U.N. List of Missing POW's 'Fake,' Communists Claim

Increased Aid To Indochina Is Advocated

U.S. Security Council Said To Favor Grant In Bid To End War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Security Council was reported today to have recommended that France be given several hundred million more American dollars to back a new drive to end the bloody Indochina war.

The American funds would enable France to transfer nine battalions of troops from Europe to Indochina to lead a new campaign against the Communist-led guerrillas.

Reviews War

Highly placed officials who reported this said the security council, the government's top policy-making body, decided on this move yesterday at a review of the Indochina war.

President Eisenhower is expected to approve the recommendation after discussing it with key congressional leaders to determine how to scrape up the money.

Preliminary estimates indicate the new aid program would cost some 300 to 400 million dollars in addition to the 400 millions Congress appropriated for Indochina this year.

The Eisenhower military and foreign policy leaders are reported convinced the United States has no alternative but to back the new French Indochina program if it wants to keep this strategic Southeast Asia nation out of Communist hands.

8-Year Campaign

Communist-led rebels, supplied by Red China, already have conquered large areas of Indochina during an eight-year campaign and have tied up more than 350,000 French and loyal Indochinese troops.

The new French plan for winding up the conflict was put forward by the government headed by Premier Joseph Laniel. Its author is Gen. Henri Navarre, who drafted it after a visit to the battlefront.

The offer to move nine battalions of French troops to Indochina to reinforce units already there is reported to be the principal feature of this new strategy.

But the French are said to have promised also that they will try to build up the loyal Viet Nam army further so it, along with Cambodian and Laos forces, can eventually take over the burden of defending Indochina.

Promised Independence

To increase popular native support for the Indochina conflict, the French government also has pledged to grant complete and lasting independence to the three Indochina states.

The Laniel government secretly appealed to the United States for additional aid money about six weeks ago. The National Security Council and other key government agencies have been weighing the problem since then.

ONLY THE FAMILY CAT WAS KILLED. Inside of this San Fernando, Calif., home looks as if an explosion ripped it apart, but this is the damage caused by a trainer jet aircraft that crashed into it near an airport. A policeman looks at the nose of the plane (extreme right). The wrecked plane did not explode or burn and, luckily, no one was killed. Only fatality was a cat (arrow). The Air Force pilot and a civilian passenger were injured.

Reds Uncork Flood of New Accusations

Polish Interpreter 'Kidnaping,' Prisoner Mistreatment Charged

MUNSAN (AP) — The Communists today accused the Allies of faking a list of missing U. N. soldiers, mistreating war prisoners and kidnaping a Pole who fled a truce supervisory team into American sanctuary.

The Reds unloaded this barrage as the Korean armistice moved rapidly into a new phase—the disposal of Red and Allied prisoners who refuse to return to their homelands.

First Group Arrives

The first group of 500 North Koreans moved into the buffer zone under control of Indian troops today.

A spokesman said they threw rocks in rage when they saw two Communist observers standing outside a barbed wire fence. The Communists backed out of range. Neither was hit.

The first group of 1,900 anti-Red Chinese was to be turned over to Indian troops Friday.

The angry Red charge of kidnaping the Pole came in a meeting of the four-nation truce supervisory commission.

Swedish Maj. Gen. Sven Grafstrom, commission chairman, said Communist Poland's delegate accused the Americans of kidnaping Jan Hajdukiewicz, a Polish interpreter who ducked from his inspection team into American hands as a plane warmed up to take him back to Red Korea Wednesday.

Peiping Radio Blast

The other Red denunciations were broadcast by Peiping radio, often a weathervane for official moves to come.

Peiping said 4,579 Red prisoners returned in the exchange just ended have been hospitalized because of "physical and mental torture at the hands of the Americans."

Condemning what it termed "ghastly examples of American brutality . . . . American torture chamber methods," Peiping said "a shocking number" of the 75,799 repatriates were suffering from various diseases. It said others were "gassed, bayoneted and stoned" during the exchange.

American officials customarily decline comment on such Red broadcasts.

In another attack, Peiping said the U.N. Command faked a list of 3,404 unrepatriated Allied sol-

'The Great and Humble'

Last Tributes Paid At Vinson Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—The humble and the great offered a last mournful tribute today to Fred M. Vinson who was born of modest origin and died as chief justice of the United States.

From the national capital and the country over they assembled for funeral services in the great choir of Washington (Episcopal) Cathedral.

U. S. Leaders Attending

Special places were reserved for President Eisenhower, former President Truman, Supreme Court justices, Cabinet members, diplomats. There was space, too, for just plain people come to honor a distinguished American.

Vinson died of a heart attack early Tuesday morning. He was 63.

For nearly three decades this friendly man had served his country. As a congressman from Kentucky, as secretary of the Treasury and in other high positions in the executive branch of the government, and finally for seven years as chief justice.

Tomorrow he will be buried in Louisa, Ky., the little town where he was born, in a cemetery on the bluffs of the big Sandy River.

Trusted Truman Advisor

Truman counted Vinson as a trusted adviser. He put him in his Cabinet and then on the Supreme Court bench. Eisenhower, too, esteemed the jurist as a personal friend, even though Vinson was a lifelong Democrat.

And today President and former President were drawn together for the first time since the change of administrations for a final measure of homage to a man they saluted as a great citizen.

Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation to fly to Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Truman came by train from their Missouri home.

The eight remaining members of the Supreme Court, the honorary pallbearers at the services here and in Louisa, interrupted their own vacations to be on hand.

Ponder Successor

Vinson died less than a month before the Oct. 5 opening of the fall term of the Supreme Court.

In the midst of the parting solemnities, Washington wondered about a successor.

Gov. Earl Warren of California? Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York? Both are Republicans. Associate Justice Harold Burton, former senator from Ohio and only Republican now on the bench?

Eisenhower was offering no cues that might indicate whom he will select. In the event the vacancy remains unfilled when the court convenes next month, Justice Hugo Black, the senior member, will preside.

Body Lies in State

For six hours last night, Vinson's body lay in state in a funeral home on Pennsylvania avenue, two blocks from the White House. Standing near the open casket was a cross of white gladioli and asters from the White House.

In keeping with custom, the Supreme Court sent a blanket of red roses to cover the coffin during the services at the cathedral on Washington's highest hill.

Newsmen Plan Fight Against Contempt Rap

CLEVELAND (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert late yesterday convicted three members of the Cleveland Press' editorial staff of contempt of court for a picture taken in the judge's courtroom. Their attorneys announced they would appeal.

City Editor Louis Clifford was fined $500 and costs and ordered held in the custody of the sheriff for one hour. Reporter Sam Giaimo was fined $100 and costs. Photograper James Thomas was fined $100, suspended.

Sentences Stayed

However, the sentences were stayed after Atty. Tom J. Edwards, general counsel for the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, announced he would file a notice of appeal. The newsmen were released on bond.

At issue was the taking of a photograph of Former Probate Judge Nelson J. Brewer as he was arraigned last Aug. 20 on a charge of embezzlement. Brewer pleaded innocent.

Judge Silbert contended he had told reporter Giaimo on the preceding afternoon no pictures would be allowed. He said he informed Giaimo and another reporter this was because of a section in the Canon of Ethics of the American Bar Association, stating that courtroom pictures should not be permitted.

'No Legal Effect'

Edwards argued Silbert's order had no legal effect because it was not a part of the Court Journal, and that "a court can speak only through a journal."

He also contended that there was no obstruction of justice in a "mere click of the camera." He said the Canon of Ethics was not binding on the press, and asserted that the judges of the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, as a group, had discussed the canon at a meeting earlier in the year, but had failed to adopt it.

'Open Defiance'

John J. Mahon, assistant county prosecutor, argued that there had been "since last May" a rule in Judge Silbert's court that no courtroom pictures would be allowed. He declared it "was a reasonable order and a reasonable rule." He said it was not necessary for the court to publish a rule in order to regulate conduct in a courtroom.

Judge Silbert, referring to Clifford, said it was a case of "open defiance." He said Giaimo was acting under orders and that "I

Father of Two Dies Following Depot Accident

Keith L. Bushatz, 22, Of Marion Crushed Between Truck Chassis

Keith L. Bushatz, 22-year-old father of two, died at Marion City Hospital at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, five hours after he was crushed between two truck chassis at the Marion Engineer Depot.

The Marion man, who resided at 216 E. Mark St., was injured about 10:30 a.m. at the Depot where he was employed as a laborer. His body was crushed when blocking gave way beneath one truck chassis and the vehicle shifted, pushing him against an adjacent truck chassis. The vehicle had just been lifted onto blocking by a crane and the crane cables had been released. Bushatz, who was assisting in placing the vehicle on the blocking, was walking between the two chassis when the blocking broke, Depot officials said. The truck chassis were being lifted onto blocking and off the ground for long-term storage.

Bushatz was rushed to Marion City Hospital in a Depot ambulance. He died five hours later of a crushed chest.

The accident was the first fatal

Riot Follows Big Prison Fire At Walla Walla

800 Washington State Prison Inmates Are Quelled by Tear Gas

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—Eight hundred state penitentiary inmates followed a half million dollar prison fire last night with cell-wrecking disorders that were quelled only after guards sprayed their quarters with tear gas three times.

The outbreak apparently was kept to a minimum by prompt action. Guards herded prisoners quickly into their cells when 14 inmates began acting up at evening meal time. Dishes were thrown and chairs smashed as a group of "young but tough" men began misbehaving.

Unknown Origin

This occurred about two hours after an unexplained fire roared through the institution's metals plant, destroying it and over one million license plates destined for use on Washington state automobiles in 1954.

Damage from the fire was estimated by Deputy Warden Al Remboldt at half a million dollars. No disorders accompanied the blaze. It started after the plant had been closed down for the evening.

Vandalism Spreads

Officials were prepared, however, for unrest and acted quickly when the dining room melee broke out. Back in their cells, the men apparently became annoyed, Rembolt said, because the prison's ventilation system failed when the fire burned out part of the power circuits.

Soon the convicts began hurling materials and abuse out the barred doors of their cells.

Mattresses were set afire and

Poland To Revolt, Red Deserter Says

SEOUL (AP)—A young Polish interpreter who bolted from Communist control and was given U.S. sanctuary said today his people some day will rise in revolt against the Reds "but now is not the time."

Jan Hajdukiewicz, 28, told a news conference the Communist rulers of his homeland could not be overthrown "without outside help" even though 99 per cent of the Polish people oppose the Red regime.

Civilian Interpreter

Hajdukiewicz was a civilian interpreter for Polish members of the neutral nations inspection commission supervising the Korean truce. Yesterday he asked U.S. Col. Harold T. Babb for political asylum as a plane to carry him back to North Korea warmed up at Kangnung Air Base in East Korea.

His request was granted and he was quickly taken to a place of safety.

"We had to get that guy out of there in a hell of a hurry," said one U.S. officer.

Only an hour before the balding young Pole met newsmen in Seoul a Communist official at Panmunjom charged that he had been "kidnaped" by the U.S. Army.

Return Not Demanded

The Polish delegate to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission did not demand the return of Hajdukiewicz but said a strong protest would be lodged.

Hajdukiewicz, wearing green U.S. Army dungarees, told his news conference he made his dramatic break because "I knew it was my last chance."

He said he believes his escape will encourage others in Poland.

"The Polish government is based on fear," he said. "I didn't want to return to my country which has been subjugated by the Communist regime. I should like to go to the United States of America."

He described communism as "the subjugation of all life."

After the news conference Hajdukiewicz was accompanied by U.S. officers to an undisclosed site, presumably in the Seoul area. He probably will be flown to Tokyo in a day or two, but army officials said they had no information on this.

Asylum May Be Given

State Department officials in Washington said the circumstances were unusual but it is U.S. policy to grant political asylum to persons honestly at odds with communism.

The asylum is given on a temporary basis, but it can be extended and Hajdukiewicz eventually could be given opportunity to apply for U.S. citizenship.

Hajdukiewicz told newsmen he decided to flee before he arrived in Korea with the Polish delegation.

He said that when he learned was to return to Panmunjom and then North Korea he acted immediately because "I knew it was my last chance to stay here."

Fears for Relatives

The young Pole said he was afraid of what might happen to his parents and a sister still in Poland.

Asked by newsmen if other members of the Polish delegation might want to flee from communism and seek U.S. asylum he replied:

"I suppose there are some persons who would like to remain here. They are in North Korea. I cannot say for sure."

Marion County Man Wins Ohio Plowing Title

A LaRue farmer, Robert Imbody, won the state level land plowing championship at Washington C. H. yesterday. His score was 80.5.

Another Marion County farmer, Paul Schaber of New Bloomington, was second place winner in the state contour plowing contest on Tuesday.

As winner of the state level land event, Imbody will compete in the national contest to be held Sept. 18-19 in Augusta, Wis.

The level land plowing matches concluded the state conservation field days and plowing matches.

Last year's winner in level land plowing, Lawrence Foettamoller of St. Henry, Mercer County, tied for fifth place with Max Miller of Baltimore, Fairfield County. Each scored 65.5. A Hardin County man competing, Robert M. Bair of Forest, scored 58.

Second in the event was Raymond Foos of Eaton, Preble County, with 77, third was Wilbur Chrisman of Washington, C. H. with 76.5, and fourth was Herbert H. Schmidlapp of Covington, Miami County, with 68.7. Others taking part were Richard Brenstuhl of Jeromesville, Ashland County, 64.5, Rodney King of Dresden, Muskingum County, 64; Robert C. Atkis of Wood County, 62.3; and Robert E. Henize of Seaman, Adams County, 57.

Both Imbody and Schaber were sponsored by the Marion County Soil Conservation District.

Miss America Contest Enters Second Round

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A southern Belle who can sing and a Pennsylvania lass who's a knockout in a white bathing suit led the field of beauties today in the race for the Miss America 1954 title.

Miss Virginia, 22-year-old Anne Lee Ceglis of Norfolk, and Miss Pennsylvania, Evelyn Margaret Ay, 20, of Ephrata, won preliminary contests last night before an enthusiastic crowd of 5,800 in convention hall.

Her rendition of "O Mio Bambino Caro" from a Puccini opera gave the green-eyed, brown-haired Miss Virginia the nod over 16 other girls in the talent division test.

Miss Pennsylvania, clad in a one-piece white swim suit, won out over 17 others in the bathing suit elimination. Also green-eyed, but with ash blonde hair, she stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 132 pounds, has a 37-inch bust and a 24-inch waist.

These preliminary triumphs netted the girls much coveted points toward the Miss America crown, which will be awarded to the grand winner Saturday night.

Miss Ohio, Martha Zimmerman, performed in a dramatic musical last night.

Present Systems Confusing

Presidential Primaries Said in Need of Revision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political researchers declared today America's voters chose presidential nominating delegates in "intolerable confusion" last year, but that television and public debate may soon bring changes.

Their preliminary report was prepared for the annual meeting of the American Political Science Assn. (APSA), which has attracted some 2,000 political scientists from all over the world.

Study Procedure

It was made by a group of researchers headed by Dr. Paul T. David of the Brookings Institution, who, cooperating with the APSA, studied the 1952 delegate-picking procedure.

The findings dealt exclusively with six classifications of primaries held in 17 states and the District of Columbia. The rest of the states name delegates by state and district conventions, with a few in the South picking by state party committees.

No Two Alike

David suggested that a model might be developed for state presidential primaries based either on variations of the California-South Dakota-Minnesota-Wisconsin type or the New York-Pennsylvania-Illinois system.

Held under laws "as different from each other as fingerprints," no two presidential primaries were identical, the researchers found.

Public Will Get List of Missing POW's Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—A faint spark of hope went out from the Pentagon today to the next of kin of 944 American servicemen whose whereabouts are unknown since their reported capture by the Reds in Korea.

The Defense Department list will be made public beginning tomorrow, 24 hours after telegrams are dispatched to the relatives of the men missing and unaccounted for.

The list includes 610 from the Army, 312 from the Air Force, 19 from the Marines and 3 from the Navy. The Communists were asked yesterday to account for them.

The list of missing men was based on Communist propaganda reports, the word of their exchanged buddies, private letters and other sources.

The Communists have not reported that any of the men escaped or died in captivity.

The Pentagon said yesterday the next of kin of the 944 Americans are being sent this message:

"The secretary of the (appropriate department) has asked me to inform you that the name of (the missing serviceman) was included in a list of servicemen who, there is reason to believe, were at one time in Communist custody but for whom no accounting has yet been made. This list has been presented to the Communists with an urgent request for such an accounting.

"All possible efforts are being made to obtain information regarding (the serviceman's name) and in the event any is received, it will be furnished to you promptly without request by you."

ROB BANK OF $28,000

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Two dungaree-clad young men, one with a dimpled chin, held up a branch bank here today and scooped all the money out of the cashiers' cages.

The loss was estimated at $28,000.

Funds Are Assigned To Buy School Land

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state board of control today released $271,848 for the purchase of a 1,243-acre tract of land at the Marion Training School, site of the former Scioto Ordnance Plant.

The Ohio Legislature originally appropriated $625,000 to buy the entire plant from the federal government. The grounds and buildings were appraised at $567,467.

The state's purchase will not include buildings. The government will remove all structures by Oct. 1, 1955.

Ask U.S. Cut Tariffs

World's Money Troubles Reviewed in Washington

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's money troubles are up for an airing today in Washington. Uncle Sam has used up billions of dollars since the war trying to shoulder them. Other countries think he still isn't doing enough.

Fifty five nations who now belong to the World Bank and to the International Monetary Fund are meeting to discuss what can be done to ease the world's financial pains.

Other nations want the United States to lower its tariffs further so they can get more dollars in trade here.

And some would like to see this country put up several billion dollars for a fund they could use to stabilize their own currencies with the goal of making them convertible again.

Currency convertibility gets a lot of lip praise because it would open world trade, increase American markets. But it seems about as far off as ever.

What free convertibility means is: If you have British pounds and want to change them into U.S dollars, or if you have German marks and want to change them into Argentine pesos, you can do so without any fuss and without asking any government's permission. A long time ago you could.

For years now only a very few of the world's currencies could be converted freely. Our government will let anyone change dollars into pounds, but won't let Americans change dollars into gold

The reason England, for example, won't permit full and free convertibility of currencies is that her pound isn't very stable. The reserves of dollars and gold behind it isn't big enough yet—although growing of late—to risk letting anyone get dollars for pounds whenever he wants them.

So some are suggesting that the United States should back heavily a stabilization fund. Suggestions range from four to 35 billion dollars.

The idea is that with this to fall back on, England could risk freeing her pound. That is, if convertibility should bring on a run on her pound that would exhaust her present slim reserves, she could draw on the stabilization fund, thus allaying fears and making her pound stable again.

The Eisenhower administration is committed to the general aim of helping in the stabilization of world currencies as a fine thing for the future.

But any talk about a big stabilization fund is likely to bring demands in Congress that first the other countries halt their domestic inflation, toughen up their currencies at home, and also lower some of the barriers they have raised against American goods.

Dress Up Canned Salmon for Lunches

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

What you can do with a can of salmon is wonderful! No need to remind you of its uses for lunchbox sandwiches or noontime salads at home. But salmon can go epicurean, too. Ever put it in a cream sauce with mushrooms, green pepper and pimento and serve it—a la King style—in pastry patties or tart shells? Do you know what a super chowder salmon makes when added to potatoes, onions, tomatoes and thin white sauce and seasoned with basil or Worcestershire? Want a delicious and different casserole dish? Then try our recipe for Salmon Parisienne.

Be a wise shopper when you choose salmon, and know what you're buying. Here's a description of the five varieties of Pacific salmon used in commercial canning.

Chinook or King Salmon — Largest of the salmons, this variety goes by the name of Chinook on the Columbia River and King in Alaska. It's called Spring Salmon in Puget Sound. Soft in texture, it's rich in oil and when removed from the can separates into large flakes.

Red or Sockeye Salmon — The flesh of this salmon is deep red in color. It's firm in texture, has considerable oil and breaks into small flakes.

Medium Red, Coho or Silver Salmon — This salmon is red, but lighter in color than Sockeye. Because its flakes are larger, it is excellent to use "as is" from the can.

Pink Salmon — Half of all the salmon canned is the Pink variety—and it's popular everywhere. Ranging from light to deep pink in color, it has small flakes.

Chum or Keta Salmon — Chum is the least expensive of all the canned salmons. It's lighter in color and has less oil than other varieties. Its texture is somewhat course and it has a large flake.

Salmon is packed mainly in the one-pound tall can, the one-pound flat and the half-pound flat (7¾-ounce weight) can. The one-pound size can contains two cups and makes four servings; the half-pound can contains one cup and makes two servings. Less common is the quarter-pound flat can, containing 3¾ ounces, drained weight.

Don't pick out the bones from canned salmon! Serve them right with the fish. They're so softened by the canning process that they are entirely edible and contain that valuable nutrient, calcium. Salmon is also valuable in the diet for the phosphorous it offers. In addition it's a rich source of vitamin D, niacin and riboflavin, and of course it's a protein food.

SALMON PARISIENNE

Ingredients: One 10-ounce package frozen broccoli, one 1-pound can salmon, Cheese Sauce.

Method: Cook broccoli according to package directions; drain; cut into fork-size pieces; arrange in bottom of 4 individual ramekins (1½-cup size). Drain salmon; keeping pieces as large as possible, arrange salmon over broccoli. Pour Cheese Sauce over salmon; broil with surface of food 3 inches below heat, until sauce bubbles and browns. Makes 4 servings.

CHEESE SAUCE

Ingredients: 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons grated onion, ¼ cup flour, 2 cups milk, 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt, several drops Tabasco sauce, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Method: Melt butter over low heat; add grated onion; cook a minute or two. Blend in flour. Add milk all at once; stir over low heat until thickened. Add cheese; stir until cheese melts. Add salt (amount will depend on saltiness of cheese), Tabasco and Worcestershire. Makes about 2 2-3 cups sauce.

Issue: Korean Peace

U.S. Prepares To Scrap With Russians in U.N.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the American ambassador to the United Nations, was supposed to attend the American political Science Assn.'s annual meeting which opened here today. But he sent word he could not be here because of the pressure of his work at the U. N. in New York.

His work at the U. N., no matter how busy he was this week, will probably be multiplied next week. On Tuesday, the General Assembly opens its eighth regular session. The special session which it began and ended in August was to choose U. N. representatives at the Korean peace conference.

That was not a particularly pleasant session. And Andrei Vishinsky, representing Russia in the U. N., may try to make life miserable for the United States at the regular session. At any rate, the Communists may disclose at the regular session whether they really want to have a peace conference at all.

At the special session, the United States, with Lodge doing the steering, worked its way through several touchy situations to get what it wanted. What it wanted was for the U. N. to pick as representatives at the peace conference only those nations which supplied troops for the Korean fighting.

This meant the United States did not want either Russia or India on the U. N. side of the conference table. Russia not only did not supply troops for the U. N. in Korea, but was the main source of military supplies for the Chinese and North Korean Communists.

The United States argued that India, if allowed to sit on the U. N. side, might offer suggestions which would snarl up the conference. Besides, South Korea didn't want India at the conference and said so. In the end, India was not chosen.

And, in accordance with Lodge's arguments, the U. N. said Russia could not attend the conference on the U. N. team, but only if the Chinese and North Korean Communists wanted Russia on their side. Although the U. N thus chose it representatives, the Chinese and North Koreans haven't announced theirs.

Vishinsky may try to reopen next week the whole question of U. N representation, although it all seemed settled. Such a maneuver, while probably doomed to defeat because of the friends the United States has in the U. N., would reopen old wounds.

The Chinese and North Korean Communists may name to sit with them at the conference not only Russia but India and possibly other nations not in the U N The conference is supposed to open sometime in the last half of October.

The Communists, by delaying tactics, might mess up this date It could be held later, if the Communists want it held at all. At this time there seems some uncertainty they do But they have plenty of time before Oct. 31 to show otherwise.

This uncertainty, however, about having a conference at all doesn't compare in depth with the skepticism that the conference, if held, will be successful in solving the problem of divided Korea.

South Korea's Syngman Rhee is determined upon unification of both parts of Korea. This would mean unification under Rhee, since the South Koreans outnumber the North Koreans. No doubt it would mean retaliation against any communists Rhee found bold enough to remain in North Korea. It is difficult to see either the North Korean or Chinese Communists agreeing to Rhee's desires. They would truly have lost the war then.

Rhee has talked of resuming the fighting if the conference looks like a Communist stall after 90 days of talking. He has between 16 and 20 divisions with which to renew the war. But South Korea, without United States help, couldn't support such a force for long.

Because Rhee needs United States help, this country should be able to put some restraint on him. Yesterday a special U. N. commission said South Korea couldn't keep such a military force—even without fighting and even with economic aid from this country—if it wanted to repair its shattered economy.

The manpower in those 16 to 20 divisions would be needed in Korean rehabilitation But that's still in the cloudy future

No Human Rights Under Reds

A further reason for suspecting that not all Red-held prisoners in North Korea were returned during the prisoner-exchange period is found in a promise made during the heat of the election campaign in West Germany.

Official word was sent from the Kremlin during the campaign that Germans taken prisoner in World War II were to be freed — eight years after the end of the war.

But even this was not to be a final closing of the books because the Kremlin grimly admitted it was going to hold back prisoners who were serving "terms" for severe crimes against peace and humanity.

Chances are that in the view of the election's outcome, which was no comfort to the Communist conspiracy, there now will be no Germans sent home from Russian slave-labor camps at all.

It does not matter who the Communists may happen to be — Russians, North Koreans, Chinese, or Americans. They obey a common creed which contains no recognition of human rights.

A prisoner of the Communists is a chattel, to be destroyed, traded with, exploited and abused. There are Germans in Communist prison camps eight years after the end of World War II. It is not incredible there may be Americans in Communist prison camps long after the truce in Korea.

'Stassenated'

The word coined by employes fired from Harold E. Stassen's Foreign Aid Administration — "Stassenated" — is sweet music to taxpayers.

Mr. Stassen has pointed out in the process of liquidating this costly division of federal spending that no more foreign aid will be needed after the end of the fiscal year next June 30.

This should release him to "Stassenate" some other divisions of government which would fold up if placed under the control of someone dedicated to the proposition that they should do just that.

There had to be a time when foreign aid stopped. Mr. Stassen has named the time and started to trim the payroll in advance.

The office of business economics, U.S. Department of Commerce, says the net total of foreign aid as of last Dec. 31 had reached $37,612,000,000.

The figure cannot be exact, because there is no way of knowing at any given time whether or not money spent for foreign aid may be subject to some form of repayment.

At the probably time of "Stassenation," foreign aid will have cost the United States in the neighborhood of 40 billion dollars, including the appropriation for the current fiscal year.

This will be equivalent of the total net receipts of the federal government in 1947 and nearly eight times as much as the net receipts in 1940, the last year before war inflated the federal budget.

The Eyes of Akihito

Every official courtesy will be shown to Crown Prince Akihito during his first visit to the United States. The heir to the throne of Japan will be given every reason to know that this government, reflecting the wishes of its sovereign citizens, wants Japanese friendship and confidence

There is little bitterness remaining eight years after the war with Japan, as far as Americans are concerned. It is easier to forgive and forget when the other side has done the losing.

And even for Americans it is easier to forgive the Japanese for their assault in World War II than forget that it was launched by people who today could offset the Communist force in Asia if they had thought straight instead of crooked.

Prince Akihito will see many things in the United States. If he is as wise, a young prince as he needs to be to fulfill his destiny, he will see that Japan can become in the Orient what first Britain and now the United States became in the Occident — the industrial pacesetter.

What the Traffic Will Bear

In the annual report of United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund, sharp-eyed watchers of the coal industry have spotted a tell-tale fact.

The union's own statistics reveal that the share of coal output mined by its members has declined 5 per cent in a year

The same statistics show that the share of non-UMW output has risen a corresponding amount during the same period of time.

It is an industrial axiom that coal miners, thanks to the aggressive collective bargaining of John L. Lewis, have become the highest-paid of all hourly workers. This is a point of pride with unionists; they speak of it often.

What they do not speak of often is the other side of the proposition: Coal is in competition with other fuels. Mine operators are in competition with other fuel-producers. Coal can be forced out of competition, operators can be forced out of business and miners can be forced out of work when the cost of production goes higher than the traffic will bear.

The highest-paid of all hourly workers have nothing to cheer aboumt when there's no work.

Judicial Precedents

By David Lawrence

Vinson's Successor May Come From Court

No one has been appointed chief justice in the last half century who has not had previous judicial experience either on the Supreme Court itself or on the federal bench.

Thus President Eisenhower would be breaking precedent if he appointed to the highest court in the land anyone who has not been familiar with the complicated problems of procedure which confront the chief justice not only on the highest court but in dealing with the lower courts.

Nor has the selection of a chief justice always been made from the political party of the incumbent president.

It will be recalled that when Chief Justice Melvin Fuller died in 1910, President William Howard Taft, Republican, promoted to chief justice a Democrat who had been a senator from Louisana and had served as a Confederate soldier — Edward Douglas White — and then filled the vacancy by appointing Willis Van Devanter, a Republican, as an associate justice.

It will be recalled also that, when Chief Justice White died, President Harding appointed ex-President Taft, who had served on the federal bench for many years before coming to Washington as Secretary of War in the cabinet of Theodore Roosevelt.

When President Hoover had an opportunity to appoint a chief justice to succeed Mr. Taft, he selected Charles Evans Hughes, who had served for six years as an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

When Mr. Hughes retired in 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt did not appoint a Democrat but elevated Associate Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, a Republican, who had served as Attorney General in the Coolidge cabinet before being appointed to the Supreme Court in 1925.

When in 1946 President Truman was confronted with a vacancy in the chief justiceship due to the death of Mr. Stone, Mr. Truman selected Fred Vinson, who had given up his life tenure as a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge to take a wartime post in the government.

So, in every case for the last 50 years, the president has sought someone with judicial experience, and in two instances out of five in the last half century the selection for chief justice has not been of the same political party as the man in the White House.

Looking over the present Supreme Court, the logical man for President Eisenhower to elevate — if he chooses a Democrat— is Justice Robert H. Jackson, who was appointed to the Supreme Court in June , 1941, at the same time that President Roosevelt selected a Republican, Mr. Stone, for chief justice.

Justice Jackson is, with the exception of Justices Douglas, Clark and Black, the youngest on the bench now, and is known as a middle-of-the-roader in the sense that he has seemed to veer away from the extreme views held by either the so-called conservatives or radicals on the present court.

Justice Jackson is believed to have been in the forefront for appointment by President Truman when it was reported to that the latter that the feud on the court at that time could only be resolved by bringing in someone from the outside He then appointed Judge Vinson.

If President Eisenhower should elevate a Democrat from the present bench — Justice Reed would be another good choice if his health were better — the way would be opened to the appointment of a new man as an associate justice.

It would be in order then to select a Republican. The name of Governor Warren of California has been prominently mentioned, but it is believed that first refusal would go to Governor Dewey of New York and next to Attorney General Brownell.

It is interesting to recall that Charles Evans Hughes, Republican, resigned in 1910 from the governorship of the state of New York to go to the Supreme Court.

It is known that Mr. Dewey could have been in the Eisenhower cabinet but did not wish to give up the governorship. He had a bigger part in helping Mr. Eisenhower get to the White House than did Governor Warren.

The California Governor never did switch his delegation to help either Taft or Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican National Convention. But it is true that President Eisenhower thinks highly of Governor Warren, and so does Governor Dewey, who ran with him in 1948 on the Republican national ticket.

Mr. Brownell may prefer to stay on a while as Attorney General and possibly accept the next vacancy on the supreme court, but it is quite probably that, whether or not President Eisenhower elevates a present justice to the top post, the new face on the court will be one of these three men — Governor Dewey or Governor Warren or Attorney General Brownell.

If the President wishes to name as chief justice a Republican and adopt the precedent which was applied in three other instances in recent years, the logical choice is Justice Burton, of Ohio, whose record in the senate and previously as mayor of Cleveland gives him an all-around familiarity with human problems from an administrative and a legislative viewpoint.

It has frequently been said that men of previous congressional or gubernatorial experience make the best Supreme Court justices because they give to the law a realistic approach which is not limited by ofttimes outmoded precedents of legal history.

Tickled by a Feather

By TRUMAN TWILL

Much interested this morning in a comment by the businessman-philosopher William Feather, that "more and more people we meet for the first time seem to resemble others we have known in the past."

Feather thinks there are styles and designs in faces and a man gets to recognize them all after awhile. Thereafter, each new face is matched up with some old face that looked the same. The same idea had occurred to us.

What an uproarious pastime it would be to take snapshots of all the old familiar faces and start a picture catalog.

There must be many ways to set up classifications, but the one which promises the clearest results is to match the faces with those of animal characteristics.

Porky. Usually found behind heavy-rimmed glasses. Frequently pink in color. Basic features heavily overlaid with flab. Characterized by shrewd eyes, which either twinkle or glint, depending on the kind of porker this one turns out to be Equestrian. Commonly called "horse-faced." Appearance has nothing to do with individual concealed behind features which are conspicuously angular, toothy and wall - eyed. Some of everybody's best friends are horse faces.

Rabbity. In some instances their noses twitch when they are apprehensive. Eyes dart here and there in an endless search for hidden sources of danger. Ears do not flap and bend first this way, then that way, but they seem to, which is almost as bad.

Feline. Composed and serene, except when angry. Their teeth are bared and eyes are narrowed to slits. Not to be confused with anything kittenish, though appearance of composure may conceal inner churnings of mischief and glee.

Weaselish. Lock up the chickens and load the gun.

Bearish. "Who has been sitting in my chair and eating my porridge?"

Wolfish. What's to keep a well-groomed wolf from winning a blue ribbon in a dog show, if the wolf knows how to go through his paces?

Bovine. All's well while the cud holds out.

Aside from animal characteristics, the easiest standard of classification would be this deceptively simple one:

That all people are either handsome or homely, except for homely ones who look good and the handsome ones who look bad.

That takes care of all of them when you get them sorted out. William Feather and Truman Twill seem to be reaching the bottom of the barrel where faces are concerned.

Wonder what this fellow Feather looks like?

Political Fog Descends on California

By Jay G. Hayden

WASHINGTON The decision of Gov. Earl Warren of California not to run for a fourth term next year may prove to be as consequential to the Republican party's future as the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Governor Warren by no means is closing his public career. He is known to covet a seat on the U.S. Supreme Court and it has been stated on behalf of President Eisenhower that the first vacancy on that tribunal will be offered to Warren The death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson puts Governor Warren in a key position.

The latter's determination not to run again, however, does largely remove him from the domination of California politics which he has exercised with spectacular success for more than a decade.

Up till 1932 California was considered a banner Republican state, but during 10 years, beginning with President Roosevelt's first election, it moved overwhelmingly into the Democratic column.

As compared with a majority of 548,000 for Herbert Hoover in his home state in 1928, Roosevelt led Hoover by more than 476,000 in 1932. Roosevelt's margin was close to 1,000,000 in 1936 and the Democrats carried California in every other presidential election throughout the Roosevelt-Truman period.

During the 1930's California moved into the Democratic column in most other respects.

Whereas in 1932 Rep Clarence F. Lea was the only congressman from the state bearing a Democratic label, and he won with both Democratic and Republican nominations, by 1937 the California line-up in the House of Representatives was 16 Democrats, 3 Republicans and 1 Roosevelt-supporting Progressive.

The first conspicuous swing from this Democratic high tide occurred in 1942, when Warren ousted the popular Gov. Culbert Olson by more than 300,000 plurality and carried in on his coattails 11 Republican congressmen as against 9 Democrats.

Capture of both Republican and Democratic gubernatorial nominations in 1946 plummeted Warren into the national picture and won him the vice-presidential nomination two years later.

His supreme triumph, however, came in 1950 when, in a third race for governor, he defeated James Roosevelt, son of the late President, by an unparalleled 1,000,000 majority—2,378,756 to 1,333,550.

Meanwhile, a Warren appointee as United States Senator, William F. Knowland, has been twice re-elected, the last time in 1952, with the nomination of both parties, and has become the youngest Republican floor leader of the upper house within memory.

Richard M. Nixon, helped into the other California senate seat by Warren's big run in 1950, has moved up to the vice presidency, making way for another Warren appointee, Thomas H. Kuchel.

The circumstance which makes Warren's retirement from the election lists especially significant is that, more than any other man, he has cashed in on California's peculiar cross-filing primary system.

No doubt his initial success was due to the promulgation of a platform which appealed as much to Democrats as Republicans. Through 11 years as governor he has constantly stressed nonpartisanship.

A frequent declaration by Warren has been that Californians can have anything they want so long as they pay for it Under his administration, state contributions for old-age pensions and medical care have risen higher than anywhere else in the nation, but without a cent of added public debt Despite heavy demands on account of the war and prodigious growth in population, Warren has clung to his pay-as-you-go rule.

His opposition has come about equally from right and left. He has been savagely attacked by old guard Republicans on the charge that he is a socialist.

Jimmie Roosevelt and Gahagan Douglas, the New Dealers who lost out in the 1950 campaign, insisted that Warren got his start as a disciple of Herbert Hoover and had been following wherever Hoover led ever since.

After Warren there are three about equally conspicuous Republican figures in California — Vice President Nixon, Sen. Knowland and Goodwin Knight, lieutenant governor since 1947—and the prime question is whether they will get together or fight.

Knight, never a Warren protege, had announced his candidacy for governor in 1954 whether or not Warren elected to run.

Sen Knowland and Warren, on the other hand, are tied together by strong bonds, both personal and political. The senator's father, Joseph P. Knowland, a newspaper publisher, gave Warren his political start and has ardently supported him at all times. Warren, in turn, brought young Knowland first into state politics and then, by appointment, to the United States Senate.

Closely linked with Warren and Knowland is the state's junior senator, Kuchel, who is up for re-election next year.

The attitude of Nixon is problematical. Certainly, the selection of him by Eisenhower as a running mate was not wholly pleasing to Warren and Knowland But on the other hand, Mr. Eisenhower now needs the local support of Nixon and Knowland about equally.

No doubt the President will do his best not only to keep Knowland and Nixon on the same track, but to avoid division elsewhere in the California Republican camp.

Answer to A-Bomb

By ARTHUR MORLEY

SYDNEY American scientists ,it is reported here, share the view of British and Australian scientists that the latest defensive weapons and electronic apparatus now being developed at the Woomera rocket range in Australia have given Britain the answer to the atomic bomb.

For this reason, Washington has urgently renewed its request for access to British atomic secrets and for permission to witness the forthcoming trials of the new weapons.

This request is being discussed at the highest level. Australian opinion favors acceding to the request, but under an arrangement suggested by Sir Winston Churchill —namely, the creation of a small top-level Anglo-American committee which would have access to the secrets of both sides. Such a procedure, however, would need the approval of the United States Congress.

Duncan Sandys, the British minister of supply, who is visiting Woomera, already has seen demonstrations of some of these weapons, including the 2,000 m.p.h. "Beam Riders" and "Homing Rockets," the existence of which he disclosed just before he left Britain.

Their development is the first preoccupation here, besides which the explosion of another atomic bomb next month is regarded as no more than a dramatic side show.

Sandys also visited the atomic testing site, the rocket and guided-middiles range, the "high level" bombing project, the pilotless aircraft project, all on different Woomera sites, and the long-range weapons establishment at Salisbury.

The latter comprises at laboratory and series of factories which are treated with even greater secrecy than those at Woomera.

Sandys also has discussed with Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies the mounting burden to Australia of the cost of maintaining Woomera—estimated at $112,000,000 by the end of this fiscal year. Australians hope for some relief of this burden as a result of the talks.

Beautiful Jail

EAST Point, Ga. (AP) —The new $200,000 city jail in this Atlanta suburb is so inviting in appearance that tourists sometimes stop and seek accommodations, thinking it is a hotel.

Police Chief William H. Taylor helped design the plush calaboose and is mighty proud of it but he wants to scotch one report that's gotten around It's not air-conditioned.

"I wish it was," adds Taylor, whose offices are in the jail.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Something We Ate, No Doubt

All is fair in U.N. and TV wrestling. As they get back from the long Labor Day weekend and start worrying about world events instead of low tides, this is about all the average American can make from that pre-holiday ruling of a United Nations high court to the effect that if a jockey hired to ride your horse refuses to say whether he works for another stable he can't be fired. Or words to that effect.

The U.N. tribunal stood firmly for the Big Clam-Up and ordered the reinstatement of 11, and as much as $40,000 "damages" for 7 other Americans, ousted at Uncle Sam's request for refusing to say whether their hearts belonged to Daddy Lenin. In the East River ball club it is okay if the players on the home team refuse to reply to the question "Are you playing for the visiting team?"

"Membership in any political party is not in itself a justification for dismissal in the absence of other causes," the U.N. tribunal rules "A decision based on such premises is a violation of the inalienable rights of U.N. staff members " To which millions of Americans, taxed to pay most of the U.N. bills in the fight for survival, come up with a loud "Issat so!"

Under the ruling, Uncle Sam could be represented by boys and girls who carry Communist cards, birthday greetings from Malenkov, Valentines from Molotov and "in the absence of other causes could not be fired " (Eric, another aspirin.) In plain words what the tribunal says is that you and I are expected to pay taxes to support an organization which keeps on its payroll people who won't say whether or not they are working for a foreign country which strives to block every hope and desire of America, and the United Nations for which America does most of the dying.

Get a load of this from the U.N. tribunal: "The United States has failed to prove its argument that the U.N. staff members who refused to answer its loyalty questions are guilty of serious misconduct or unsatisfactory service." . . . So telling Uncle Sam to go jump in the lake ain't serious?

Continuing on the U.N. staff while refusing to answer the simple question, "Are you a member of the Communist Party?" is satisfactory!!!. (Nurse, another pill) we are getting groggier.) Thanks. Our head is clearing now and we begin to understand: No matter what eggs are being hatched it is illegal to look under the hen . . . And if the man you hired to carry the flag is removed from the parade because he won't say whether he sells hammers and sickles as a sideline, he is entitled from $10,000 to $40,000 damages." Awah-h-h-h!

A committee of U.N. has asked the Chinese Reds and North Koreans whether they want the peace talks in Los Angeles, Geneva or San Francisco . . . Our idea, after observing Communist routines, would be to hold them on the beach where Alice-in-Wonderland walked with the carpenter, the walrus and oysters.

Did you hear about the fellow who was deported from New York for whistling Cole Porter and Irving Berlin tunes during the Rodgers — Hammerstein testimonial celebration? . . .

Damon Runyon Jr., who looks the picture of his dad, makes top reading in his story, "Father, Dear Father " . . . Says Damon's real first name was Alfred, that the "Damon" was the family name of his mother . . . What we didn't know was that Runyon began as a printer's devil in Pueblo, Colo., worked as a bellhop and jockey at one time and was the youngest soldier in the Spanish - American War . . .

Andy Tufts, a motorcycle cop in Lynn, Mass., won last week's $1,000 for picking the best of three acts on "Judge For Yourself," and is reported so happy he hasn't given out a ticket since.

422 American POW's Arrive On West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another 422 American repatriates returned home yesterday from long imprisonments in Communist prison stockades in Korea.

Several hundred relatives and friends cheered their arrival on the Navy transport Gen. John Pope—fifth repatriation ship to dock at Ft Mason in the past two weeks.

The Marine Phoenix, carrying 374 more ex-prisoners, is slated to dock Sunday, the Military Sea Transport Service said.

Yesterday's returnees said at least two so-called "progressives"—Americans whom fellow prisoners said cooperated with the Communists in prison camp—were beaten aboard the Pope.

Cpl. Harold W. Beerbower of Saegerstown, Pa., said about 10 "pros" were aboard the Pope and they were segregated after the beatings, which occurred the first day out of Inchon, Korea.

His account was supported by Pfc. Thomas M. Caroland Jr. of Cedar Hill, Tenn.

Caroland said one of the beaten men was "just a jerk who was afraid," but he called the other "a real rat who spied for the Reds and got several Americans tortured."

Patricia A. Schill Becomes Bride of Donald J. Moseley

Miss Patricia Ann Schill of Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Schill of 313 Chestnut St., became the bride of Donald Joseph Moseley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moseley of Cleveland Saturday morning, Aug. 22, in St. Mary Catholic Church here. The pastor, Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., celebrated the nuptial mass.

"The Mass of the Holy Rosary" was sung by St. Mary Choir. Miss Nancy Heckman presided at the organ.

Centered on the altar were two gold vases of white gladioli and fiji mums, and on the side altars were gold vases of white and blue gladioli and mums

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered nylon tulle over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and the off-the-shoulder neckline had a pleated yoke. The long sleeves extended to points at the wrists, and the floor-length skirt extended into a cathedral train. Caught with seed pearl clips to the fingertip-length veil of French illusion were the white satin bands forming the bride's Juliet cap. Her flowers were a cascade of white carnations and glamilias interwoven with tulle of Rittman, O., a member of Alpha Phi Sorority, were bridesmaids. Miss Susan Tibbals, a niece of the bride was junior bridesmaid.

Attendants of the couple included a sorority sister of the bride and fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

Gowns of the attendants were of nylon net over taffeta, ankle length, fashioned with strapless bodices and full skirts. The matron of honor wore a deep rose shade, while the bridesmaids were in aqua. They wore matching nylon net stoles, and headbands of velvet with short veils, and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and baby mums outlined with velvet loops and white tulle. The junior bridesmaid's dress of net over taffeta was floor-length, and sleeveless, made with wide net ruffle at the neckline.

Best man for the bridegroom was Eugene Mucciarone of Painesville, and ushers were Niel Hellman of Sylvania, and Robert Kluth of Painesville, all members of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

A breakfast following at Hotel Harding was in the Presidential Suite. Tables were decorated with tall white tapers in crystal candelabra and arrangements of white mums and gladioli.

In the afternoon from 1 until 4, a reception for 140 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a white embroidered linen cloth, and was centered with a three-teir wedding cake topped with a wedding bell. On either side were crystal candelabra with white tapers encircled with ivy, lily of the valley, and white satin ribbon. The floral arrangement was repeated at the corners of the table with the ivy and lily of the valley which is the Alpha Phi Sorority emblem. Serving were Mrs. Kay Tibbals, sister of the bride, Mrs. William Roecker, Mrs. Eugene Montgomery, and Mrs. Clifford Irey. Among those present was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Caddie Schill of Galion. The yard and garden of the Schill residence served as a setting for the guests to mingle during the afternoon. Those from out of town were from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Chicago, Ill., and Painesville, Kent, Cleveland, LaRue, Caledonia, Galion, Shelby, Willard New Washington, Rittman, Perry, and Sylvania, O. and Ft. Breckinridge, Ky.

Following the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to Wasage Beach, Ontario, Canada. The bride was wearing a royal blue wool suit with black velvet accessories and a purple throated white orchid corsage.

A graduate of St Mary High School in Marion and of Kent State University, with the class of 1952, she completed on July 3 her dietetic internship at St. Luke's Hospital in Cleveland where she is employed as a therapeutic dietitian. Besides her social sorority, she was a member of Psi Lambda Omicron, national home economics honor society. Her husband, a graduate of Painesville High School and Kent State University with the class of 1952, is employed in the freight traffic offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. They will make their home at Pittsburgh where he was transferred this month.

During August, several showers were given for the pleasure of the bride-elect. Miss Carolyn Cleary entertained with a kitchen shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Cleary, on E. Farming St., assisted by Miss Alicia Cleary and Mrs. Cleary. Decorations were in the wedding colors of aqua and rose, an on Aug. 20, Mrs. Lee Stedham gave a linen shower and spinster party, using the wedding color scheme

Mr. Moseley's bachelor party was given in Painesville Aug 15 by his fraternity brothers, with Mr Mucciarone as host. Friday night preceding the wedding, the bride's parents and her sister entertained with a rehearsal dinner at which time the women of the wedding party were presented manicure sets and rhinestone earrings, and the men were given silver flasks in leathers cases.

Richwood Girl, 17, Reported Missing

A 17-year-old Richwood girl has been missing from her home since Wednesday morning, her parents reported to the Marion County sheriff's office.

The girl, Phyllis Mae Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knight, is described as being 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, and having light brown hair and blue eyes.

She left a note to her parents saying she was leaving but did not indicate where she was going. Her father is a Union County deputy sheriff.

Primaries

Minor differences in legal wording, they said, often produced major differences in operation.

"Even if significant changes do not occur before the 1956 conventions," the report said, "the impact of another session of the conventions on television, in conjunction with the discussion that is already occurring, may quite possibly result in significant changes before 1960."

David said the main feature of the California-South Dakota-Minnesota-Wisconsin primary system is a combined ballot. By making a single mark, the voter in these states can express a presidental preference and also vote for a slate of delegates committed to the preferred candidate. California introduced the systems 40 years ago.

Not Perfect

But David said the combined ballot systems are far from perfect.

"The Achilles Heel of all these systems is the question as to which presidential possibilities, real or alleged, will be on the ballot," he said. His report pointed out that President Eisenhower's name was not carried on any of the four streamlined ballots last year.

The New York Pennsylvania-Illinois primary systems, discussed as another base for developing a national model, provide for direct election of unpledged district delegates. State party organizations pick the delegates at large.

The Ohio ballot was called a "bewildering monstrosity," but in its inner workings, the report said, the Ohio system is similar to the streamlined California primary.

"In both states," it added, "the usual outcome in most years in both parties is the election of a regular organization slate, committed on the ballot to a favorite son."

Ike Extends Greetings On Jewish New Year

"May this New Year bring to peoples of good faith everywhere the reassurance that more tranquil days are indeed near," Eisenhower said.

$10 Fine Bothers Man More Than Prison Term

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — John H Hernandez apparently has more time than money.

Admitting a marijuana charge to Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay, Hernandez hardly batted an eye when told of his five-year sentence in prison yesterday.

He flinched when told of his $10 fine, however, and swung around with a worried look on his face.

"When do I have to pay the fine?" he asked.

tossed out windows which had been broken with fists or articles ripped from cell walls. Lavatories were broken from their supports and smashed. Disorders grew more violent until they reached their peak about 8 p.m. in four wings.

Eighty guards and 30 police officers entered the cell blocks, filling the cells with tear gas. Cursing and shouting taunts, the inmates continued their depredations through a second volley of tear gas.

They quieted down after a third treatment and guards started moving from cell to cell, cleaning up the mess and getting the convicts bedded down for the night.

Two convicts were overcome by the tear gas and given treatment in the prison hospital. Five others were removed to an isolation tank.

Damage from the disturbance was estimated at as high as $150,000.

Guards said the ringleaders apparently were a group of younger inmates who were "feeling their oats."

'Propaganda Move'

The Allied list, which includes 944 Americans, came from various sources—returning prisoners, letters and even the Reds' own broadcasts.

Peiping said the list was intended to divert "world public opinion from the fact that a large number of Korean-Chinese POWs who desire repatriation are still being forcibly detained by the Americans."

The Red radio apparently was renewing its old clam that the 14,500 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans who refuse to return to communism are being held by Allied force—not under their own choice.

Schools in Pike County Jammed, Ask U.S. Aid

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—The atomic energy plant has brought too many pupils to Pike County's schools.

Supt. J. E. Way says Pike County has a severe overcrowding of classrooms, and too few teachers, textbooks and supplies.

The pupils are from families coming to work and live near the atomic energy plant.

Dr. Clyde Hissong, state education director, said this week there is only one teacher for every 34 pupils in Ohio, instead of the recommended 30 pupils.

Pike County and its neighbor, Scioto County, both have asked federal aid to increase facilities. Ross County, to the north, reported overcrowding, too.

This distribution of sales tax funds for local government purposes for July, August, and September, was the first distribution during the current fiscal year.

Thirteen counties did not share in the $4,458,892 distributed this week because the county auditors had not mailed their certificates of sales tax allocations to the state office.

might have done the same thing under those circumstances." Because testimony failed to show Thomas knew of the picture ban, he was convicted only of obstructing and delaying the Aug. 20 proceedings.

The judge remarked that the only question was "whether the court made an order, whether it was reasonable, and whether it was violated."

He said "no elected official who is in his right mind gets into an argument with a newspaper," but "judges must have courage." He declared that if the defendants felt there was an invasion of freedom of the press, they could have proceeded "in an orderly way" by filing a writ of prohibition.

After the sessions Clifford was asked for comment, and referred the question to Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press. Seltzer said it was to be expected that the judge who had issued the citation "would, in self defense, find us guilty. We feel that the principle involved is so important that we are going to carry it to the higher courts."

During his courtroom remarks, Judge Silbert said he felt he had been ridiculed. Asked later for amplification of this point, he declared the Press, in its editorials and news stories, had accused him of giving Brewer preferential treatment, and that he had given no preference.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

In every large body of men there are slick, tricky persons who try to find small advantages for themselves at the expense of others.

SOKOLSKY

In the Korean War, these jobbers of influence were correctly nicknamed "rats," although that seems to be too polite a term.

What our sons suffered at their hands in Korea is only now coming out. They spied on other American soldiers. They advised the Koreans and the Chinese Communists how to force Americans to sign statements. They squealed on Americans who spoke unfavorably of Communism and the Russians.

Now some of the rats are being protected from the natural desire of our boys to teach them a lesson. It seems altogether unnecessary. It would help the rats to understand the morals of our race if the boys were permitted to beat them up, to dunk them in the ocean, to make them salute the American flag for hours on end. A little vengeance goes a long way with a rat.

BUT WHAT OUR military should do is to court-martial the rats under any articles they find and then to publish the findings, including the names of these villians.

We ought to have their names. Their photographs should be published, particulary in their local communities, so that all men may know who they are and what they did to other Americans, fighting in a foreign land, 6,000 miles from home. We ought to spew them out as we do anything foul.

In the Korean War, there is another kind of indecent, disgusting, foul-smelling creature called a "progressive." He is an American soldier, including some officers, who were Communists when they were conscripted, or who became Communists in prison camps. Some of them became Communists because it gave them advantages; others because they believe that Russia will conquer the world and they want to be among the conquerors. Some of them have become addicts of the gospel of Karl Marx.

THERE ARE THOSE who fall for the assumption that the Russians accomplish all this by brainwashing; that is by a propagandistic method which removes from a man's mind all his earlier knowledge and beliefs and turns him into an abnormal monster who serves the Russian without will.

I do not go along with this theory, except in isolated instances during which drugs are used to destroy the will. So far, little evidence has been abduced to justify the charge of brainwashing by drugs of our sons. It is easier to accomplish with weak-willed creatures by a better bed, by access to women, by extra food. We need not grow to fanciful on the subject, it is sufficient that these so-called Americans have joined the enemies of our country and have done their bidding.

SOME OF THESE progressives have chosen to remain in North Korea, in Communist China and even in Soviet Russia. Technically, they are missing persons.

Sooner or later, and perhaps this has already been done, the government of the United States should have an authentic list of American prisoners-of-war who formally stated their preference not to return to the United States.

That list should be given the most widespread publicity. Americans ought to know who these Progressives are, where they come from, what their background was. They ought to know why these people hate their own country.

THIS IS SOMETHING that has never happened before. It is perhaps true that in World War I and World War II some Americans were missing because they shacked up with native women and got lost. In the Korean War, it is altogether different. These are prisoners-of-war who are asked to express a choice: Do you want to go home to your own country or do you refuse to go home?

And they made their choice. They prefer to remain in a slave civilization rather than to return to their native land, to their families, to their own.

It is almost impossible to believe that such persons exist in the American society; yet, we have witnessed the Hollywood Ten, the Trial of the Eleven in Foley Square, the Trial of the Second String Communist leaders, the Alger Hiss case, the Julius and Ethel Rosenberg case, etc.

We know that even here at home we have both rats and progressives and just perverted traitors. And what we have at home, we have in our Army.

Ice Water Has 'Kick'

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—There was a hilarious aftermath to the welcome Medal of Honor winner Hiroshi Miyamura received in Gallup yesterday.

Refreshments at the Miyamura home consisted of gin mixed with water.

Several guests, thirsty from the long parade and broiling sun, gulped the mixture down hurriedly —thinking it was ice water.

The gasping and choking just added to the general uproar—mixed with a lot of laughter.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

From the steaming sidewalks of New York to the cool hills of Kentucky, and right on out through the midwest too, many men are slugging, shooting, kidnapping and rioting against each other. Peace on the war front has brought war on the labor front. The country's got truce-time jitters

RIESEL

And strangely enough one of the first casualties may be — not a striker or a plant owner — but the FBI.

Here's what's happening When President Eisenhower revolted against his two predecessors' policies of getting into each strike crisis, both labor and management apparently took this White House neutrality as a sign that the other side would get tough Instead of trying to work out peaceful formulas of their own, they prepared to fight it out And they have Especially in the past few weeks.

EARLY IN AUGUST one of John Lewis' organizers, Charlie Vermillion, was killed in his car on a Kentucky highway. The bullet got him on the left side of his head This was somebody's second try. Last January he was ambushed on the same spot and was blasted in the neck and leg

Not too long afterwards, the CIO Clothing Workers Union reported that Jim Jackson, one of its organizers, had been "pistol-whipped" near Columbus, Miss. Jackson was seized, thrown into a car carrying seven men and later whipped and kicked in a cornfield.

The union charges that the assailants told Jackson that his beating was a warning to other union organizers to keep out — and they'd kill him if he reported to the authorities. This was merely one of four other such incidents involving unions.

ON THE OTHER HAND, CIO communication workers rioted thruogh the night and cables were cut during the strike in Indiana. Elsewhere, intra-union fights have resulted in at least one labor headquarters baricading itself behind barbed wire.

After each of these incidents, those who felt their civil rights had been hit, rushed to the FBI demanding investigations. The G-men are now probing several of these killings, kidnappings and violent attacks. That's the civil rights law.

Attorney-General Herbert Brownell has ordered them to enforce it. Now a terrific assault on the FBI is underway to keep it out of the states — an assault which will affect its pursuit of criminals and subversives.

We don't need the jitters. We certainly don't need violence. We DO need an efficient FBI. Let's get together on all this before we fall apart . . .

DESPITE PROTESTS from the perennial Socialist leader, Norman Thomas, our State Department and Mutual Security Administration offices abroad are being stripped of Socialists, former members of the CIO and even of David Dubinsky's AFL Ladies Garment Workers Union. MSA chief Harold Stassen is handpicking the men to be fired from our offices in England, France and Germany . . . They will be replaced by more conservative men not so close to the Socialist and labor leaders abroad..

WALTER REUTHER'S brother, Victor, has just returned from Paris, where he directed the CIO's activities for years. Victor will now handle much of CIO's activities in Washington — especially the propaganda campaigns . . .

First of the CIO drives, soon to be unleashed, will be a radio, TV, leaflet and lecture platform attack on the Treasury Department, which is trying to convince President Eisenhower to accept its plans for a national sales tax.

According to those who know what's happening inside Treasury, the department wants a four or five per cent "manufacturers excise sales tax" — on everything produced from trucks to toys. This tax would replace all other special taxes in effect now. The CIO says it would be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher prices.

The CIO leaders are especially furious with Secretary of the Treasury Geroge Humphrey. They will charge that he has been saying that there is "over-employment," which keeps the entire economy too tightly on a high price level. . . . Meanwhile the White House is making plans to care for, in some neo-WPA fashion, the 3,000,000 jobless expected by next Spring.

Most influential force inside the White House is the Tom Dewey bloc. Gov. Dewey virtually saved Assistant President Sherman Adams some time back. Now, with Sen. Taft gone, the Dewey-Adams combination is making policy and is swinging it away from the more conservative bloc. The fight to influence the President will become real bitter behind the scenes when he returns.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE: For years the cerebral palsied and handicapped kids of Syracuse, N. Y., have lived a few gayer moments in their wheel chairs, because the association caring for them received extra funds from an annual summertime football game.

This year's hoedown between the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Detroit Lions promised to draw even bigger crowds to the benefit game —that is, it they could find transportation to the stadium. The city's 475 AFL bus drivers and mechanics on 23 bus lines were on strike.

The strike had been running for 14 days It had been complicated by a fight between John Lewis' District 50 and the AFL drivers For all labor involved in the strike it was crucial that no buses run.

Then the spokesman for the crippled children appealed to the strikers. They said they'd run the buses on Aug. 22, the day of the ball game. Thousands of dollars worth of tickets were sold. The kids sat behind the benches, cheering themselves half out of their wheelchairs. And the drivers, who had not received any pay for weeks, turned their own day's earnings over to the youngsters. Let it be known that it can happen here — and does.

Penny Casanovas

By Inez Robb

I am an individual who likes light wine and dancing But if I never again hear of Aly Khan or King Kong Farouk I figure I shall be just that much anead.

INEZ ROBB

Call me Queen Victoria, but their cheap antics their constant exhibitionism and what are laughingly called their "romances" do not amuse me — or 165,000,000 other Americans, I suspect.

These penny-arcade Casanovas deserve banishment from the front pages, something that would surely kill them. Both of these peep-show Lotharios live on inherited money and entailed notoriety and for the life of me I can't understand why any self-respecting woman would be seen with either.

I THINK MEN are the most wonderful invention of the ages. But if I were shipwrecked on an island with either or both of the above, I would simply start swimming in all directions no matter how shark or octopus-infested the waters.

I have seen Aly in the flesh and Farouk in pictures and neither one could slide down the cellar door of my house with a police permit.

As an ignorant American peasant, I admit to an atavistic, built-in prejudice to the effect that man ought to be worth his salt and able to earn it.

Neither one of these chevaliers of the international set could earn his bread if he had to, not even as a drug store delivery boy.

AS FOR THE international set: it is notorious for a strong stomach and a weak head.

There are other persons, come to think about it, whom I wouldn't miss if I were suddenly deprived of news of their comings and goings. Edda Mussolini Ciano and Ana Pauker, to name two.

When I read the other day that Edda was on her way to Buenos Aires to visit her brother and that Ana was still alive and kicking, I thought how nice it would be to throw 'em both in the same cage and let 'em finish each other off

I also read that Edda's son-in-law struck a South American photographer who tried to take a news picture of Il Duce's daughter I can remember when you couldn't chase the little 'lens louse away from the cameras!

THE STORY DID not say whether the news photographer had a chance to strike a blow for freedom, but I sincerely hope so, and where it did the most good to Edda's son-in-law. That's a family to whom democracy comes hard.

There is quite a covey of persons whose sudden disappearance from the public eye would cause no public display of grief on my part. The Gabors, for instance Each and every one of them. Something tells me I am not alone in this.

If Sloan Simpson O'Dwyer is dormant for the rest of her natural life, I shall be able to bear up bravely. This goes double for Gene Tierney, triple for Diana Barrymore, and quadruple for Rita Hayworth.

FOR THE LAST twenty years of his life, the antics of Miss Barrymore's father, John, were embarrassing, to put the best face on it. At least, he had the excuse of genius. Miss Barrymore is not even a has-been

The next time Miss Barrymore acquires a black eye in a private brawl, I see no necessity of calling a public press conference to explain it. Who cares?

If all of these characters should crawl back into the woodwork, life would still go on.

Depression Would Upset Balance

U.S. Prosperity Governs World Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ability of the United States to avoid depression will largely determine whether the world can achieve a free and stable exchange of goods and money, the International Monetary Fund declared today.

In its annual report to governors of the fund and the World Bank, representing 55 nations, the fund reported substantial progress toward a balance of world trade—a pattern free from recurring dollar shortages abroad.

But the balance is precarious and can be upset, the report said, if the United States and other creditor countries maintain high tariff and other trade barriers or, because of recession, curtail their imports.

The possibility of "even a rather small decline in American business activity" gives concern to many nations, the report said. It emphasized that the decline of U.S. military spending need not necessarily cause a business dip, and noted that the U.S. government is committed to take vigorous measures to combat any slump.

"However, any short downturn would at once bring back the dollar problem in its full severity, despite any action taken by other countries in the meantime to strengthen their position," the report said.

Ivar Rooth, the fund's managing director, in a speech prepared for delivery on presentation of the report today, echoed the appeal made yesterday by World Bank President Eugene R. Black for a more liberal U. S. tariff policy.

If the fund's debtor countries are to achieve "convertibility"—that is, make their money freely exchangeable for dollars and other currencies—they must have more ready access to markets where dollars can be earned, Rooth said.

Steady progress toward elimination of dollar deficits in the past year, Rooth went on, has brought the world to a point at which "the convertibility of currencies has become a practicable objective." He continued:

"Convertibility requires a willingness to permit considerably more free competition than is the normal practice today, not only with other exports in foreign markets, but also with imports in domestic markets.

"What the great creditor countries, and particularly the United States, do about their foreign economic policies is highly important for currency convertibility."

The fund advised European nations to look to Western Hemisphere countries other than the United States as areas in which dollars can be earned. Canada, Colombia, Cuba, Mexico and Venezuela present no barriers to convertibility, the report said, and all have dollars available because of heavy U.S. defense buying in the Western Hemisphere.

STEVENS AGREES TO REVIEW ARMY POLICY. Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens (left) announces after meeting with Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) (standing, right) at the Capitol that he will review the army's refusal to tell Senate investigators who gave security clearance to civilian employes accused by McCarthy of being Communists. Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) is seated beside Stevens.

This blue lake, set in the rugged hills west of Cadiz on U S Route 36 and 250, is visible its full length as motorists travel over this busy thoroughfare. In the early days the route followed by Route 250 was a main wilderness trail used by the Indians as they crossed Ohio on their way to and from Sandusky and Maumee River Indian towns. Work Nearly Completed at Marion Store

Completion date for an extensive $50 000 remodeling project currently under way at Kline's Department Store is expected to be sometime the latter part of this month, according to H. L. Shapiro, store manager.

Remodeling plans call for the installation of rubber tiling or carpeting on all floors and fluorescent lighting throughout the store plus rearrangement of departments, Shapiro said.

A structural change accomplished since remodeling work began about a month ago is the moving of the stairway leading to the downstairs store from the front of the store to a less congested area toward the back of the first floor.

When the re-arrangement of departments is completed, the downstairs store will house children's, boys' and sub-teens departments in addition to the yard goods and domestics department

On the first floor will be found the women's sportswear, men's and and shoes departments, and on the balcony a cotton shop, budget dresses and foundation garments.

Space on the second floor, which has been rearranged to include a central stock area across the front of the store, will be devoted to women's dresses, coats and millinery and teen-age clothes

Also scheduled to come in for a share of the remodeling plans are the front display windows.

The topic of the program, "A Sower Went Forth," was dramatized by Mrs Donald White, Mrs Lewis Fry, Mrs. William Fisher and Mrs Clarence Robertson

Plans were made to repair the church organ and for a picnic in October. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Flo Decker and Mrs. Wilbur Parish.

Maryland Year Late In Honoring Da Vinci

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — With mumbled apologies Maryland is getting around to officially observing the 500th anniversary of Italian artist Leonardo da Vinci . . . one year late.

Gov. Theodore McKeldin yesterday proclaimed Oct. 11-17 as Leonardo da Vinci Appreciation Week in Maryland.

He explained that "war and related distractions" caused the overlooking of the observance in 1952.

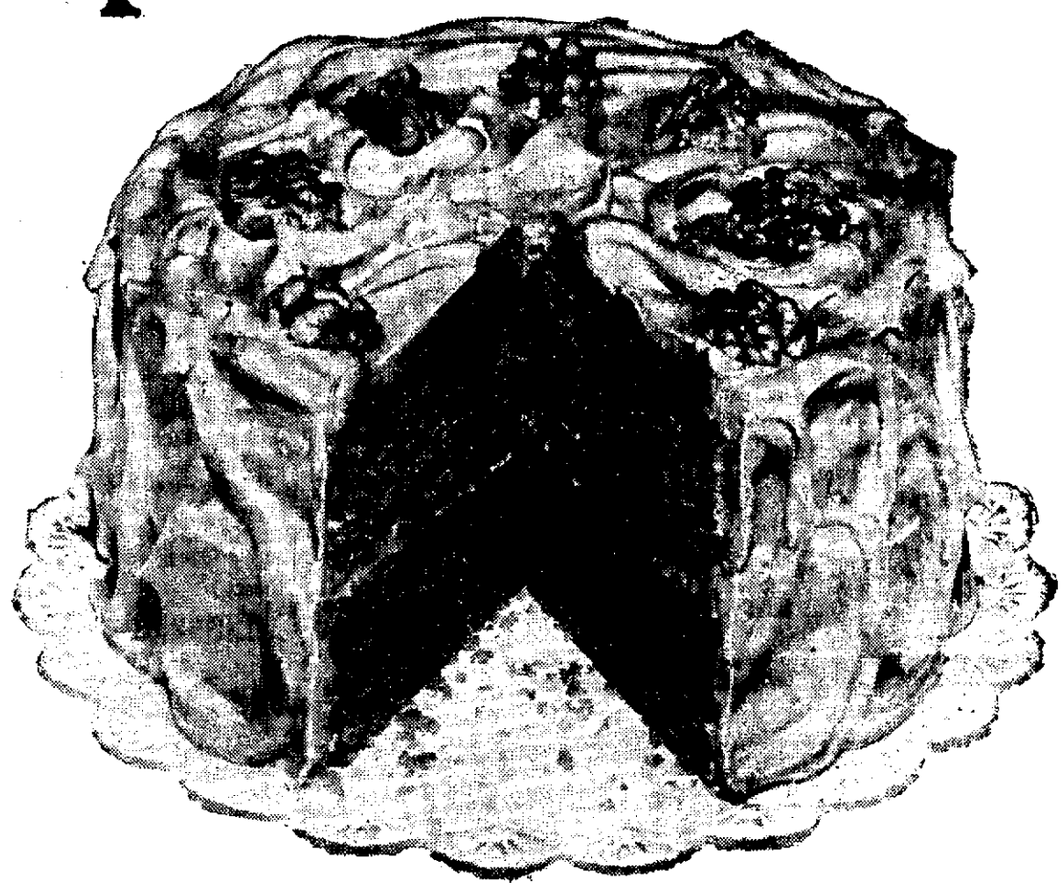
All Duncan Hines' knowledge of fine flavors... in this most flavorful of all cakes!

NEW Duncan Hines Spice Cake Mix



"In a spice cake, the artful blending of the spices is all-important," says Duncan Hines, America's foremost authority on good eating. "A pinch of one spice and just a suspicion of another can work wonders. But you can't guess—you've got to know.

"Now my new Duncan Hines Spice Cake Mix takes the guesswork out of making spice cakes for you. Carefully chosen spices have been expertly blended right in the mix. All you add is water and fresh eggs for a perfectly delicious cake!

"One of the secrets of fine baking is the use of strictly fresh eggs. No good cook would think of using dried eggs, and yet factory-dried powdered eggs are the only kind that can be put 'right into' a cake mix package. That's why I ask you to add your own fresh eggs to my mixes.

"And that's why—when you use Duncan Hines Cake Mix and your own fresh eggs—you're guaranteed a fresher, bigger cake—better in appearance, freshness and flavor ... or your money back."

SAVE 10¢ on your next purchase of any Duncan Hines Mix with the FREE COUPON you'll find on every package of Duncan Hines Spice Cake Mix, as a special introductory offer. 4 Per Center Once Worked For Ohio Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warren L. Stephenson, central figure in the latest congressional probe of alleged influence peddling, says he once represented the Edwards Mfg. Co. of Cincinnati.

Stephenson told investigators he worked for Edwards at a salary of about $1,000 a month for about 10 months in either 1949 or 1950.

This was shown in testimony made public by the House subcommittee of defense activities, headed by Rep. Hess (R-Ohio). The subcommittee is probing the activities of "four percenters"—who allegedly tried to swing government contracts to firms fora four per cent fee.

Stephenson told the subcommittee he did business with the Navy here for a Mr. Myers, whom he recalled as president or vice president of Edwards.

At another point, he was asked if he had communicated with anyone concerning any proposed procurement by any department of the government.

Stephenson replied he talked to "Mr. Sam Richmond, former vice president of Edwards Mfg. and now in Ripley, Ohio, with the Artcraft Steel Co."

"What did you talk to him about?" asked Charles Courtney, special counsel for the subcommittee.

A. "I talked about grain bins for the Agriculture Department."

Ex-Ohioan Missing After Scaling Cliff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Fischer, 25-year-old cab driver who liked to bike, vanished yesterday while climbing a treachercus cliff near Lands End on the south shore of the Golden Gate.

The only trace of Fischer, formerly of Akron, Ohio, was a torn copy of "Immortal Poems of the English Language," which he was known to carry, said Police Officer Joseph Allegro.

Fog and darkness cut short a search by police, firemen and coast guardsmen.

Fischer's companions, Harley and Clyde Browning, decided to take the long way around after surveying the cliff. Harley Browning said the three did not have any climbing experience, but just "liked to hike."

Fischer and the Brownings are natives of Akron.

The Brownings said Fischer's mother is Mrs. Helen Fischer, 762 E. Buchtel, Akron.

Three Youngsters Set Out on Foot To Go to Mother

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Three children of Mrs. Virginia Mikus, deciding their father's home here was too small, were back with her today in Logan, W. Va.

The youngsters — 9, 10 and 12 years old—came to the attention of police Monday when they tried to hitch - hike from their father's house here to their mother, a registered nurse who lives 280 miles away.

Mrs. Mikus, obeying a court order, had brought the three youngsters to her divorced husband, Robert Lee Sperry, last weekend.

But since Sperry already had six other children and another wife living in his four-room house here, the trio decided things were too crowded.

Police, stopping their attempt to go back to mother, took them before Judge Louis Tobin in Juvenile Court. The judge called in the parents and issued a new order—turning the youngsters over to their mother.

AWOL GI Sneaks Home From Korea, Army Is Checking

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (AP) — A story by a young Plainfield soldier about how he fled from the Korean front, stole aboard an Army transport and hitch-hiked home from the west coast was under investigation by Army authorities today.

The GI was identified as 21-year-old Pvt. John J. Galasso, who gave himself up here earlier this week.

Galasso was being held in custody at the camp until his story could be checked and verification obtained from Korea.

Capt. Quentin Keith, public information officer at this Army post, said he did not know how long it could be before the story could be checked.

The soldier, he said, surrendered Tuesday night and told officers here that he escaped from a division stockade near the front lines in Korea eight days before the armistice.

When he reached the east Korean port of Inchon, Galasso said, he paid an unidentified person $250 to get aboard an Army transport that took him to San Francisco.

Jet Trainer Crash In California Kills 1

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — A jet trainer, trying to come in to an airport for an emergency landing, plowed through the front door and out the back of a Van Nuys house yesterday killing one person in the home.

Two other occupants were only shaken up, and two Air Force men in the plane suffered cuts and bruises.

While the plane tore the middle out of the John T. Chandler home, there was no fire. The Lockheed T33 came to rest in the back yard, leaving a wing in the living room and a tank embedded in a kitchen wall.

Fatally hurt was Mrs. Phyllis O'Kray, 48, Chandler's mother-in-law. Chandler, 35, and his wife Helen, 28, suffered only shock.

Dodgers Reduce 'Magic Number' To 2

DISCUSS WORLD SERIES ARRANGEMENTS. Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick (left) discusses World Series arrangements at his office in New York City with Yankees General Manager George W. Weiss and Dodgers Vice-President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi (right). Major league clubs with a mathematical chance to win the pennant were invited by the Commissioner to attend the meeting.

Week-End Series With Braves May Cinch Flag

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

Alas, those poor Indians!

They keep winning and winning and where do they wind up? In second place.

Twenty victories in the last 23 games. That's Cleveland's remarkable record during the past three weeks. But today, with the season's end a little over two weeks away, they still trail the pennant-bound New York Yankees by nine games.

That's the way it was last year. Too late and too little. The Indians won 18 of their last 21 games, but in the same period the red-hot Yanks gained half a game on them. They finished two games behind the world champions. It won't be that close this time.

The Yankees need only a combination of nine victories and—or Cleveland losses to clinch their record - breaking fifth straight championship following last night's 9-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The Indians boosted their second-place margin to four games over the White Sox, edging out the Boston Red Sox 2-1.

Brooklyn's National League-leading Dodgers reduced their "magic number" to two for mathematical elimination of Milwaukee, shutting out the Cincinnati Redlegs 6-0 while Philadelphia was blanking the Braves 2-0.

The New York Giants dropped St. Louis into a tie for third place, defeating the Cards 8-3, Chicago's Cubs won their sixth straight, defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7 on Ralph Kiner's 31st home run with two mates aboard in the ninth inning.

The two twi-night double-headers in the American League ended in splits. Mickey Vernon's double scored Eddie Yost in the 12th inning to give Washington a 2-1 victory over St. Louis after rookie Don Larsen had pitched the Browns to a 3-0 triumph in the opener. Marion Fricano hurled a four-hitter and Pete Suder batted in three runs with a triple and homer to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 7-1 victory after Ralph Branca had pitched the Tigers to a 8-2 opening game triumph.

Al Rosen's 40th homer was the big blow in the Indians' success. The slugging third baseman connected with a man on base in the eighth inning to enable Mike Garcia to gain the decision over young Bill Henry. Garcia blanked Ted Williams for the first time since the slugger started in left field for the Red Sox. Ted had hit safely in 15 previous games.

Billy Pierce tried to become the first pitcher since Walter Johnson in 1908 to blank the Yankees three times in succession and failed—just as 12 others did before him. The White Sox southpaw opened the game with 19 scoreless innings against the Yanks and added four more. Then the Yankee Stadium fell on him. Seven hits and seven runs were recorded against him before he was mercifully removed from the mound—with getting a single batter out in the fifth. Whitey Ford hurled a five-hitter for his 17th triumph.

Brooklyn's slugging crew hit two more home runs, Nos. 193 and 194. Pee Wee Reese hit a grand slammer and Duke Snider cracked his 38th. Bob Milliken, replacing the injured Johnny Podres with two out and two on in the first, pitched hitless and runless ball for 8 1/3 innings to gain his seventh victory.

Warren Spahn failed for the third straight time to notch his 20th victory. The Milwaukee southpaw hooked up in a scoreless duel with Philadelphia's Bob Miller but weakened in the ninth when Stan Lopata crashed a home run with a mate aboard to decide the battle. Miller had a three-hitter.

Don Mueller cracked four hits and Bobby Hofman batted in four runs to help the Giants' Dave Koslo gain the decision over the Cards' Gerry Staley.

Robbins Announces Lineup

Irish Gridders Wind Up Workouts for Preview Tilt

St. Mary's Irish were set today for a dress rehearsal and signal drills in preparation for thei first taste of 1953 grid action Friday night

Coach Ray Robbins squad takes part in the fourth annual Fostoria Boosters Football Preview there. St. Mary meets Fostoria High School of the strong Buckeye League in the final game of the program expected to get underway at 9 p m.

The locals scrimmaged on Monday and Tuesday this week and Ray has been brushing up his squad of 35 on a little of everything. St. Mary is without any injuries and Ray reports his team will be in good physical condition for the tilt.

Two similar games will precede St. Mary's game with Fostoria. With action slated to begin at 7:30 p m., Fostoria St. Wendelin meets Bowling Green, also of the Buckeye League, and Rising Sun is paired with Van Buren in the other matches. The games will consist of two eight-minute halves.

Another highlight of the preview at Fostoria's Memorial Stadium will be the crowning of a queen during the intermission of one of the games. Tickets for the preview are $1 for adults and 35 cents for students and may be purchased at the gate.

Ray today named a starting lineup but said he would probably play everyone to discover their talents. He named Pat O'Connor and Don Shoemaker to start at the end posts. John Kelly and Ed Quinn will be at the tackle positions, Bob Campton and Jerry Ballenger at the guard spots and Jack Schnitzler at center.

Roger Micheli will direct the team from the quarterback slot. Mike Anderson and either Butch Merchant or Ted Kilbury will be at the halfback posts and Larry Ryan will run out of the fullback slot. The entire lineup is made up of regulars from last year's Irish team.

St. Mary's team, troubled by lack of weight and depth this year, will undoubtedly be heavily outweighed by the larger Fostoria high school football squad.

The locals open their regular football season Sept. 19 here with Cardington. They will be making their debut in the new Mid-Ohio Conference which was formed last year by representatives of the St. Mary, Cardington, Elm Valley, Mt. Gilead and Richwood schools.

Dodgers Bump Redlegs, Need 2 More Wins

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Milliken arrived on the scene just four hitters too late last night—too late, that is, for a possible no hit ball game.

Two were out and two Cincinnati hitters were on base when Milliken relieved the injured Johnny Podres. From there on the Redlegs went hitless as the Brooklyn Dodgers romped to a 6-0 victory.

Only one Cincinnatian got to base off Milliken and he retired the last 24 batters in order as the Brooks moved into a spot where any combination of two victories or two Milwaukee defeats will give them the National League pennant.

Podres, who had been honored at pre-game ceremonies by home town fans from Hazard, Ky., had to bow out when he twisted his knee getting out of the way of a first inning line drive single by Ted Kluszewski.

Milliken came on at that time without any bullpen warmup.

The fact Peewee Reese hit a grand slam homer in the fifth frame almost was lost under the glamor of Milliken's pitching.

Duke Snider followed with another homer to account for the final Dodger run.

Snider's homer was incidental for two reasons. He already had singled in the first inning to give him a string of 23 straight games in which he had hit safely, the longest such streak in the National League this season.

County Schools Complete Fall Baseball Plans

Marion County high school baseball coaches have completed plans for the fall baseball season which opens Sept. 22 Final arrangements were made at a recent meeting at the county school office.

League action will run through Oct. 20 and games are scheduled every Tuesday night. Six teams compete in the Marion County League. They are Green Camp, New Bloomington, Meeker, Prospect, Pleasant and Morral. Green Camp is defending champion.

In the past, the league champion of the fall action has represented Marion County in the district tournament in the spring. This year, however, Marion County will send three teams to the district action. A county tourney will be held each spring with the league champions and the two other top teams gaining tournament berths. The new plan has been adopted to give county football schools a chance at the diamond tournament.

First round games in the league will send Morral to Green Camp, New Bloomington to Meeker and Pleasant to Prospect.

Sal Maglie of the Giants is the only National League pitcher to hold an edge over every rival NL team in lifetime records.

Pitching—Bob Milliken, Dodgers—Relieved the injured Johnny Podres with two on and two out in the first inning and pitched hitless ball the remainder of the way as the Dodgers blanked the Cincinnati Reds 6-0.

Ratterman Set For Grid Action Against Bears

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—His sore arm almost well again, George Ratterman is scheduled to help Otto Graham with the quarterbacking duties when the Cleveland Browns meet the Chicago Bears tomorrow night in Chicago.

The 27-year-old gridder is the only man on the Cleveland squad who hasn't been tested in exhibitions this season, except for holding the pigskin of Lou Groza's place kicks against the Baltimore Colts Monday night He took part in passing practice yesterday, though, and reported only a trace of pain in the right arm that has kept him sidelined.

A Cincinnati resident who doubles as a lawyer and investment broker during the off-season, Ratterman saw little action last year as he completed two of six passes for 20 yards gained. He is a veteran of the Buffalo Bills, New York Yanks and Montreal Alouettes.

Tommy James and Darell Brewster are recuperating from slight injuries they suffered in an auto accident Sunday night. James expects to be back at his job at defensive right half, but Brewster probably will get another week's rest.

Wynn on Mound Today

Tribe Boosts Second Place Margin, Downs Boston 2-1

BOSTON (AP)—More firmly in second place after last night's 2-1 victory over Boston, the Cleveland Indians send Early Wynn against the Red Sox today in an effort to run their winning streak to six games.

Wynn will be seeking his 18th victory against 11 defeats. His opponent will be Maurice McDermott, who is 16-8.

Cleveland, still nine games behind New York, moved three games away from Chicago as the Yankees whipped the White Sox 9-3.

Mike Garcia, winning his 17th game, and Al Rosen, slugging his 40th homer for both Tribe runs, were the heroes of last night's victory. Garcia held the Red Sox to seven hits and blanked Ted Williams three times.

Rosen, now leading the league with two more home runs than Philadelphia's Gus Zernial, hit his two-run homer in the eighth inning after Bill Glynn drew a walk. Bob Avila got two doubles off southpaw Bill Henry who limited the Indians to eight hits, and had little trouble until Rosen's blast.

Boston scored in the ninth on three singles, the final being Milt Bolling's drive to center that scored Sammy White from second.

Avila, George Strickland and Glynn worked another double play to stretch the Indians' string to 22 games, three short of the record set by the Red Sox in 1951.

Larry Doby struck out four times, which gives him a season total of 113, six away from the league record set in 1914 by Ken Williams of the St. Louis Browns

Player Shifts Paying Off at Grid Training

NEW YORK (AP)—A quarterback playing center? There's that and more in store for college football fans when the 1953 season opens in less than two weeks as coaches do some fancy personnel shuffling for the coming no-platoon era.

The story of Don Babers at Oklahoma A&M provides an example of what's going on across the country. As a sophomore quarterback two years ago, Babers ranked fifth nationally in passing, accounting for 1,352 yards via the airlanes of the Cowboys' spread formation attack He held down the job last year too but in '53 he'll be starting at center in Jim Lookabaugh's newly installed split-T setup.

Bud Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma Sooners are once again in the national spotlight, is doing plenty of experimenting—particularly in the backfield where the departure of Billy Vessels, Buck McPhail and Eddie Crowder left a huge gap.

Halfback Buddy Leake has been taking a turn at the vital quarterback assignment in the split-T with Gene Calame, a converted end Wilkinson's transfer of Max Boydston from end to fullback appears to have paid off. Boydston broke away for a pair of 80-yard scoring runs in the first major scrimmage at Norman this fall.

Elsewhere, Steve (The Horse) Meilinger, Kentucky's all-everything boy will try his hand at halfback for the Wildcats after starring at end and in the backfield in '52.

At Notre Dame, Dan Shannon, whose fumble-inducing tackle set up the winning Irish touchdown against Oklahoma last year, will operate both ways at end rather than at linebacker where he played in the two-platoon days.

Johnny (Jeep) Bednarik, brother of Penn's great Chuck, will throw his 217-pound frame at William and Mary's opponents from end this season where the Indians are thin. He had been a tackle.

With newcomer Bowden Wyatt shifting Arkansas' offense from the split-T to the single wing, spark-plug Lamar McHan goes from quarterback to tailback to handle the heavy duty work for the Razorbacks.

The new season brings other major changes too.

Georgia Tech's Larry Morris, linebacking specialist in '52, becomes a two-way center. Minnesota's Bob McNamara, currently sidelined with a knee injury, is slated to take some of the pressure off All-America halfback Paul Giel after a year at offensive end and defensive safety Texas' Jack McMurray, who caught a touchdown pass in one of the first Longhorn scrimmages has been switched to center where there's a shortage.

What this boy can tell you about your own child's future

Even at his age, this boy knows that the only true security a man can have is a marketable ability—knowledge and training that industry wants, needs and is ready to buy.

For that reason, he is studying mathematics and the physical sciences in high school to equip himself for college engineering and enter business with a special skill. These studies are every high school student's open door to the great opportunities engineering and science offers youth today.

Next June, 23,000 engineering graduates will enter their profession where starting salaries are high. Some of them will process and package foods, some will design airplanes, some will set out in search of oil or go into manufacturing or invent new machines. They will lay out stores and factories, build new roads, plan whole towns. Many of them will become technically-trained salesmen.

All of them will be doing useful work, all will have a good chance for steady employment and advancement. Many will enter their own business. Their specialized, professional training will be needed for years to come to meet this generation's tremendous shortage of trained engineering personnel.

Don't foreclose on your child's future. See that he takes the high school courses that will qualify him to study engineering if he cares to when he reaches college age. For information, see your high school math or science teacher, guidance counsellor, the personnel department at your place of business, a prominent engineer in your community, or write to the Engineering Manpower Commission, 29 West 39 Street, New York 18, New York, for the free booklet, "Engineering As A Career."

Loeb Furniture Store Acquires Space Addition

Announcement of the leasing of a building at the rear of the Loeb Furniture Co. at 141 S. Main St., was made today by William Coffae, owner

The Frazier Manufacturing building, which is directly behind the furniture company has been leased from Ben Peterson.

Coffae said the three-floor building—a basement and two floors—would be used as a combination sales room and stock room He said it would enable the company to be able to display furniture in room set-ups

Present facilities are a basement, main floor and second floor and Coffae said today the addition would result in expanding the company's used furniture facilities and its complete home furnishing lines.

The building is being re-decorated and will be ready for formal opening sometime in September

The company has been here 18 years and Coffae, who was formerly manager of the Kline Department store, has been owner two years Staff at the furniture store, all who were associated with Coffae at Kline's includes Eugene DeGroot, manager, Miss Helen Hagerty, office manager; Don Showalter, sales manager, and Bob Rhinesmith, delivery and service manager.

Bigger, Better Varieties

Hybrid Vegetables May Increase Garden Output

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Hybridization, which revolutionized corn production, may soon be extended to various other vegetables, promising higher yields and quality, a University of Wisconsin horticulturist reported today.

Dr. W. H. Gabelman told the annual convention of the American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS) that prospects look good for furnishing the American dinner table with hybrid onions, beets, carrots, celery and swiss chard.

A hybrid is a plant developed from two different varieties of the same vegetable. The scientist said a new horticultural discovery has made it possible to overcome a difficulty which hitherto has limited hybridization to corn alone on a practical economic scale. Hybridization has meant tremendous increases in corn yield and quality, Gabelman declared.

The difficulty, in the case of other vegetables, has been in finding economical ways to cross-pollinate two different varieties of these plants in order to produce hybrid seed.

With corn, the situation is easy. Pickers merely go down a row of corn and take the pollen-containing tassels off the plants that are to be saved for seed. These plants are then sterile as far as their "male" component is concerned. But, nearby plants of another corn variety furnish pollen which is carried by wind or insects to the pollen-sterile plants, resulting in production of hybrid seed. The following year, hybrid corn is grown from such seed.

But other crops don't lend themselves to this easy "detasseling" process. Thus, any production of hybrids from them has necessitated the very tedious task of removing all pollen-carrying parts from the seed plants. And this is not economical on a practical scale.

Now, said Gabelman, horticultural methods have been perfected which make it possible actually to produce plants which have sterile pollen, thereby eliminating the need for removing the pollen. He said, though, that even with this development, hybridization would perhaps not be possible for certain vegetables, like tomatoes, which seldom cross-pollinate.

Portugal is the world's leading cork producer, followed by Spain and French North Africa.

Rotarians Hear Discussion on Aims of Clubs

Hiram McGrath of Mansfield, a past Rotary district governor, was guest speaker at the Marion Rotary Club weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

Speaking on "The Meaning of Things," he talked about Rotary, applying its functions to the individual man and to everyday life.

Mr. McGrath pointed out the fact that faith in our every day life depends on other people as well as on faith in God, and he discussed service to others, which is the motto of the Rotary Club organization.

Mr. McGrath is president of the Johnston Water Systems of Mansfield. The district of which he served as governor was No. 229.

Program chairman for the day was Henry Mickley.

A visiting Rotarian at the meeting was George F. Leatherman of Findlay. Guests included Robert Rybolt and J. F. Strigle, both of Canton, O.

Eight rules of citizenship formulated by the club members are: Obey traffic laws, vote in elections, keep Marion clean, set a good example before others, be a good American, don't judge people by appearance and religion, don't mock others' religions, and don't defy your own religion.

Boy Knows System To Catch Parakeet

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Nine-year-old Warren Whitney knew what to do after his pet parakeet, Sonny Boy, rode outside the house on the back of the family dog and eventually wound up in the top branches of a tree about a block away.

When whistles and bird calls failed to bring Sonny Boy out of the tree, Warren camouflaged his head with some grass and stood beneath the tree.

A few minutes later the pet landed on Warren's head and the boy walked slowly back home and reinstalled Sonny Boy in his cage.

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

I figure this demonstration saved me many hundreds of dollars!

I expected to pay that much more for a new car until I discovered I was better off in every way with this new Chevrolet!

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

CHEVROLET

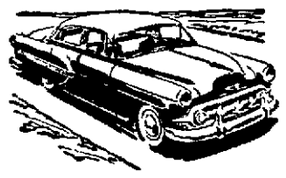
MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p "Thrift-King" engine.



It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

Tremendous Decade

Columnist Looks Back After 10 Years

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten years ago it began.

There I was in Sicily, waiting to get on a boat for the Salerno landing in Italy. And not a care in the world except who to leave my wrist watch to in case I got hit coming ashore.

Then a press officer handed me the shattering cable from my boss:

"Start writing daily human interest column immediately."

The press officer saw my face turn blue, and asked sympathetically, "What's wrong? A death in the family?"

"Yes," I told him, "A long slow one—mine."

For I remembered how Don Marquis had once described writing a newspaper column as "digging a daily grave." And later, when I showed Ernie Pyle the cable, he gave an elfin grin and said, "Cheer up. In between the moments of suffering there are long periods of unconsciousness."

Now, after ten long years in a brown study, I am convinced both Marquis and Pyle were right.

It has been a tremendous and terrifying decade. In that time I have turned out about 2,800 columns from some 55 countries around the world — and written them in such diverse places as the top of the Eiffel Tower, beneath a Sherman tank, and in a roadside ditch in Korea.

You would think a fellow would learn a lot in all those years. But all I have found out is that people are as good and bad in Casablanca and Calcutta as they are in Keokuk, a discovery you can really make without leaving your own neighborhood. The human heart has the same width everywhere.

But it has been a wonderful privilege to find it out the hard way, and to know you have many friends and memories in many places.

People often ask a columnist, "How do you get your ideas? Do they just come to you?" Well, yes and no. Sometimes they are suggested to you. Sometimes they come in the mail. But generally you just take a cold chisel, put it to your head, and start quarrying. The thing a columnist sees most often is the ceiling. You get to lean back in your chair and stare at a lot of interesting ceilings in this trade.

The hardest thing to realize is the impossibility of writing a column that will please everyone including, perhaps, yourself. It can't be done in a world of differing values. People don't all laugh or weep or applaud at the same things. And funnybones seem to get more sensitive every troubled year.

The greatest peril to a columnist, it seems to me, is to become a stuffed shirt pundit, to appeal to people's prejudices instead of their minds and hearts. It is easy to pick up a rock and throw it at something you haven't taken the trouble to understand—far too easy.

If I had my 2,800 columns to do over again, I'd probably do them all differently. Five minutes after any piece of writing leaves your typewriter you can see it is freckled with flaws. But only about half a dozen of the 2,800 were written in hate, and these alone I really regret. There is no greater waste in living than hate.

So it is that today I really feel free to attack only two things—small-mindedness and poison ivy. I used to be against snapping turtles and poison snakes, but, you know, they have their place and purpose in the world. However, nobody will admit he is smallminded—and even vegetarians don't have a kind word for poison ivy.

The best friends of any columnist are his critics, as they help keep his hat size normal. My favorite critic has always been Elmer Fish of Alliance, Ohio, who used to scribble on penny postcards such remarks as "God must have been asleep when you were born." Lately I haven't heard from Elmer. I don't know whether he simply got disgusted with me or decided, when the post office raised its prices, that I wasn't worth a two-cent postcard.

What are the secret sorrows of a columnist? They are two—meeting the daily deadline, and people who ask:

"Is that all you really do? How do you spend all your spare time?"

Well, columnists do just what housewives do when they are asked the same question. They brood.

Heat Is Blocked Off Before Reaching House

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — The Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois says controls to keep the heat away from walls, glass and roof of a house are far more effective than fans and other air cooling techniques used inside the rooms.

The council said major walls and glass areas should be on the south side of the house where they can be protected from the sun or on the north where effects of the sun are negligible. Walls and glass areas should be held to a minimum on the east and west sides. The low angles of the sun on these areas in early morning and late afternoon make them more difficult to protect, the council said.

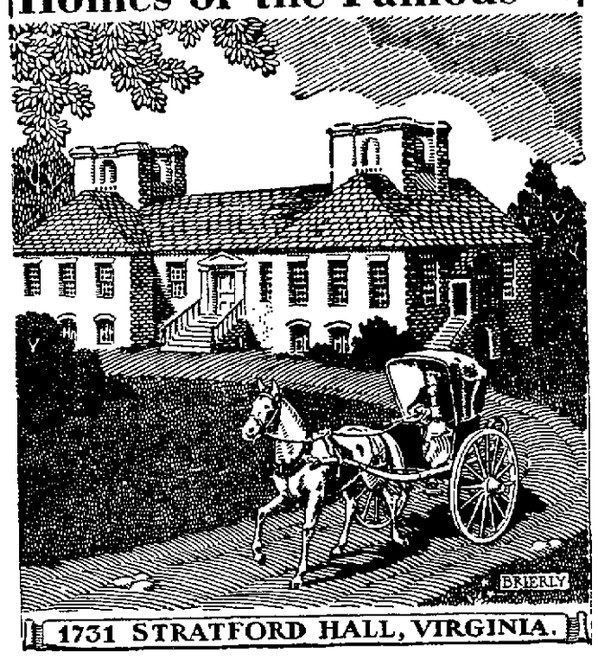
"Sun-controls" suggested by the council include overhangs, trees and plantings, window louvers or blinds, and awnings. The council also advised using venetian blinds outside windows. Light-colored venetian blinds are 70 per cent effective in reducing heat load outside but only 40 per cent effective when they are inside the house.

UPPER RESIDENTS WED

UPPER SANDUSKY — Miss Paula Rhoden and Calvin Lay, of this city, were married Thursday, Sept. 3, at the Garden Chapel at Angola, Ind. Witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Tong, of Marion, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. Mr. Lay is employed at the Micra-Mara Manufacturing Co in Upper Sandusky where the couple will reside.

The wild barrier islands at South Carolina's coast have a storm - warning system of their own. When marshmen hear a big bull alligator bellowing in August or September, long after the saurian mating season, they believe he is predicting a hurricane roaring up from the Caribbean.

Homes of the Famous



1731 STRATFORD HALL, VIRGINIA.

By The Associated Press

This spectacular house, overlooking the Potomac, was purchased in 1932, by the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation and, with its grounds, is not only a memorial to a great man, but also furnishes a lasting model of an old Colonial plantation. The mansion is a massive brick structure of unusual dignity, built on the "H" plan, a survival of Elizabethan and Jacobean times. Its central hall (the bar of the H) on the main floor is 30 feet square and is reached from the outside, by a long flight of steps. On each side of this entrance hall, is a wing containing spacious rooms, and the whole structure is topped by a multiple hipped roof, dominated by two arcaded groups of four chimneys each. It was built in 1731, by Col. Thomas Lee, one time Royal Governor of Virginia, whose ancestor settled in the province in 1650. Two of Col. Lee's sons were signers of the Declaration of Independence and his granddaughter, Matilda Lee married General Light - Horse Harry Lee (her cousin) and here their son, Robert E. Lee, was born in 1807.

Duck, Spaghetti End Girl's Hunger Strike

HONGKONG (UP)—Roast duck and spaghetti scuttled a hunger strike staged here by an 18-year-old lovesick girl.

The girl, Chang-Pei-ching, fell in love with her teacher three months ago. One night she quarreled with her mother and went to stay with the teacher. He was charged with harboring a minor and sentenced to nine months' imprisonment.

She was ordered by the Hongkong Secretariat of Chinese Affairs to move into a local welfare center where she promptly went on a hunger strike. Arguments and tempting dishes failed to break her determination until the fourth day when she couldn't resist a special meal of roast duck and spaghetti.

WCTU NAMES OFFICERS

ASHLEY — Mrs. Nettie Kiefer was hostess to Ashley WCTU at her home in Ashley, Monday night. Mrs. Mame Olds had charge of devotions. Officers were re-elected as follows: Mrs. Heinlen, president, Mrs. Ernest Litsinberger, vice president, Mrs. Lelah Stephens, secretary, Mrs. Frank Riley, treasurer.

Crawford County Rural Teachers Meet Sept. 25

BUCYRUS—S. K. Sollars, superintendent of Crawford County's rural schools, announced here today that the first of four meetings of the County Rural Teachers Association will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 25, at Lykens School.

Supt. Sollars said there were 46 teacher changes in school faculties this year, including the employment of 40 new teachers and the transfer within the county system of six others.

There is no change in the total number of teachers employed this year. It remains at 132, although Whetstone and North Robinson each has dropped one high school instructor while Leesville and North Robinson each have added one elementary teacher.

There are slightly more than 50,000,000 housing units for the 160,000,000 persons in the United States. This is slightly more than three persons per unit.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alakline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

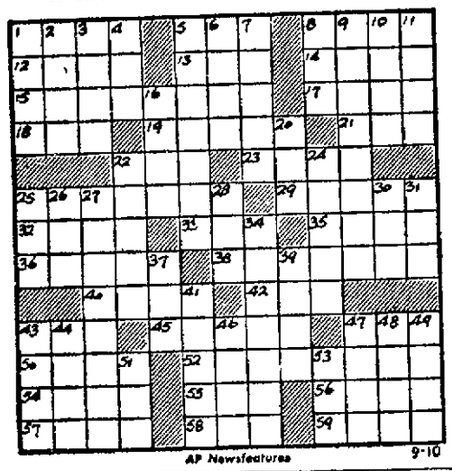
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



AP Newsfeatures 9-10

Retirement Means More Rugged Work

CLEVELAND, O (UP)—A 71-year-old retired Jesuit priest here is chopping his way through old age by working on a 20-acre wood lot with an axe

Following his retirement in 1947, professor emeritus Joseph S Joliatt, S J, went to work on the lot adjacent to John Carroll University in University Heights.

He's been whacking away at the rate of an acre a-year since then and although he doesn't credit woodchopping for his well-preserved longevity, he does consider it fine exercise.

Father Joliat was born and raised on an Ohio farm and recalls his youthful woodchopping days vividly. "It's a little like picking up where I left off during boyhood days on my father's farm," he said nostalgically

The land will ultimately be used for John Carroll's proposed Stadium

Irish Get Together In Brisbane Hospital

BRISBANE, Australia (UP)—In adjoining beds at the Mater Misericordiae Hospital recently were two Mrs. Veronica Sullivans—not related and living 200 miles apart

They had the same doctor and two nurses looking after them, both called Mary Doyle But the doctor and nurses didn't mind—their parents had the same complaint and underwent the same operation.

P S. Mrs Veronica Sullivan and Mrs Veronica Sullivan have daughters with the same names, too.

Marksman's Slugs Jam Up in Barrel

SAN DIEGO, Calif (UP)—Leon Morrison, 37, of Chula Vista (a San Diego suburb), fired nine times with his 38 caliber revolver —then the pearl handle broke off in his hand.

Morrison took the gun to the Chula Vista police station Officers found all nine bullets jammed in the barrel

"I didn't think anything was wrong when I apparently missed the target, I'm no expert marksman," Morrison commented.

Majority in Family In Dental Profession

FOREST CITY, N C (UP)—Visitors to the home of Dr Charles S McCall here should never ask if there's a doctor in the house They would be overwhelmed with the response

Dr McCall has been a dentist for the past 32 years Three of his sons are dentists Another son is a physician His daughter is a registered nurse His wife is a nurse and assists him in his office

Dick Tracy — By Chester Gould

THEY'VE GONE INTO A BRANCH OF THE CITY NATIONAL BANK, BUT WHICH BRANCH?
DISPATCH SQUADS TO ALL SEVEN!
BETTER YET, LET'S CALL THE REVENUE PROTECTION SERVICE, INC.
"THAT'S A PRIVATE ORGANIZATION THAT GUARDS THE BANKS," SAYS TRACY. "THEY CAN ALERT ALL OF 'EM AT ONCE."
MEANWHILE — WITHDRAW THE DOUGH AND CASUALLY SAUNTER BACK TO THE CAR. I'LL WAIT AT THE DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

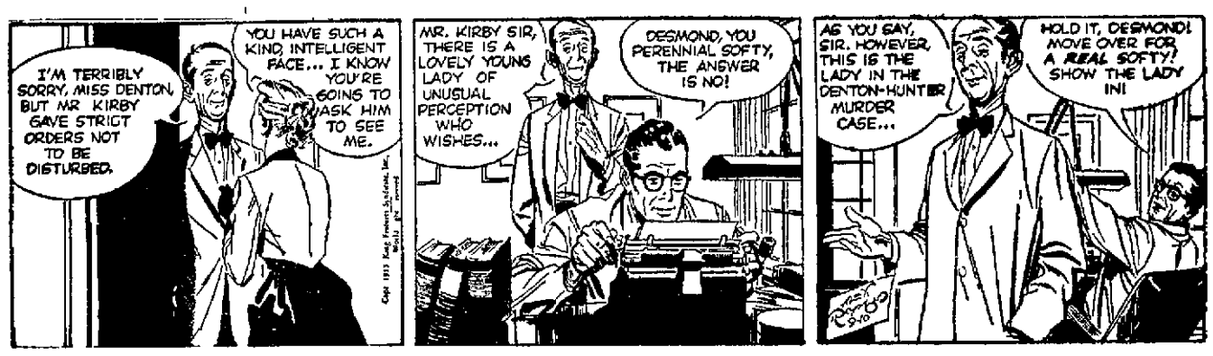
Rip Kirby — By Alex Raymond



I'M TERRIBLY SORRY, MISS DENTON, BUT MR KIRBY GAVE STRICT ORDERS NOT TO BE DISTURBED.
YOU HAVE SUCH A KIND, INTELLIGENT FACE... I KNOW YOU'RE GOING TO ASK HIM TO SEE ME.
MR. KIRBY SIR, THERE IS A LOVELY YOUNG LADY OF UNUSUAL PERCEPTION WHO WISHES...
DESMOND, YOU PERENNIAL SOFTY, THE ANSWER IS NO!
AS YOU SAY, SIR. HOWEVER, THIS IS THE LADY IN THE DENTON-HUNTER MURDER CASE...
HOLD IT, DESMOND! MOVE OVER FOR A REAL SOFTY! SHOW THE LADY IN!

I'VE GOT TO HELP ROUND UP THOSE CONVICTS!
BUT I CAN'T LEAVE ZIGI AND ZAGI HERE WITH ONLY MR. FRACK TO WATCH THEM! I'M NOT SURE I CAN TRUST THOSE TWO KIDS YET...
J. FRICKSON FRACK CHILD WELFARE COUNSELLOR

Gasoline Alley — By Frank King

I haven't got a thing out of him about his being married, Judy
Slip up behind him and ask the first question.
Pudge, how's your wife?
Wife? Oh, that!
That rumor was greatly exaggerated.
Then you don't have one?
Confidentially, no. I met her family up country an' they didn't pass the test

Joe Palooka — By Ham Fisher

Terry and the Pirates — By George Wunder

I THOUGHT I SMELLED SOMETHING, CREEP! YOU'RE FROM THE LOCAL RED UNDERGROUND!
QUITE SO...THOUGH MY PROPOSITION TO YOU IS DIRECTED BY THE KREMLIN ITSELF.
YOU KNOW WE CAN CHECK ON WHETHER SPRAY O'HARA DISAPPEARED INTO EAST GERMANY OR NOT!
PLEASE DO SO.
AND IF WE FIND IT'S TRUE, HOW MUCH DO YOU THINK YOU CAN SWEAT OUT OF A PAIR OF LOW-RANK FLYBOYS?
AN INSIGNIFICANT SUM, I'M SURE...THAT'S WHY I PROPOSE A-AH--COMMODITY EXCHANGE.
